COWBRIDGE people can save the livestock market – and add significantly to the economic life of the town – by putting their hands in their pockets and investing in a new action plan.

The action group set up to save the 200-year-old livestock market in Cowbridge has unveiled its plans to regenerate the area, and selling community bonds in the scheme is key to its success.

The Vale Market Community Enterprise (VMCE) together with Cowbridge-based architect Elio Leo, has developed a master plan to breathe new life into the historic market.

The plan has the Vale Council's backing and will be named the Cowbridge Market Quarter.

Newly-surfaced car parking areas are planned and the scheme includes "the development of a limited number of residential apartments".

The current livestock market, run by Glamorgan Marts (Herbert R Thomas and Watts and Morgan), will be given a facelift and will continue to operate on a weekly basis.

At the heart of the scheme will be a market hall, called The

REPORT by PHILIP IRWIN

Exchange. This will be a social enterprise developed by the community, for the community.

A spokeswoman for VMCE said: "The Exchange will provide a 21st century marketplace for rural produce, crafts and services with space for a handful of resident enterprises, a community café serving local produce and an open, yet undercover, venue for events, festivals, farmers' markets, vintage fayres and flea and antique markets".

Mandy Davies, chair of VMCE, said: "Cowbridge has been a market town for many hundreds of years. It is the only market town in

THANK YOU, WELSH NHS

'You saved my life'

ON Friday, July 24, I suffered a heart attack and I would like to thank the people who looked after me.

First, Dr Gail Price and her team at Pencoed Medical Centre, the paramedics on the ambulance, the team at Morriston Hospital under Dr G Jenkins and the doctors and nursing staff of Ward 4, at the Princess of Wales Hospital, in Bridgend.

So many times the Government and media criticise the NHS. I would just like to say that without their dedication, commitment and care, I would not be here today.

I, for one, and my family, would like to say a big "thank you" to them all, from the top to the bottom, and the cleaning staff. Long live the NHS.

Ian Griffiths, Pencoed.

Bin and gone...

IFEEL visitors to Barry Island should be made aware that if they take the popular walking route around Friar's Point from the main car park, the distance to the next litter bin is nearly a mile.

On Nell's Point, there is a similar distance between the bin on Dingle Bridge and the next one on Redbrink Crescent.

As the circumference of the island is about three miles, this means that over half of the pathways on it don't have enough bins.

The Eastern Shelter and Promenade appear to house most of the council's supply, which to my eyes, is ridiculous bearing in mind the size of the area.

Could anyone at the Vale Council explain the reason for this anomaly, or, more importantly, do something about it?

I'm sure the resort manager and his excellent team feel they are doing their job with "one hand tied behind their backs", as they are the ones who have to pick it up.

It's no good saying that people should take their own litter with them, as they obviously don't!

I walked round the Island over two years ago with a member of the parks department, who agreed with me – but obviously his promise to do something about it, was overruled by 'higher beings', probably in favour of new chairs.

I asked for commonsense to be applied in a previous complaint. I'm asking again.

Mike Dunn,
Barry.

It's back to the blame culture?

WITH reference to the article in The GEM by Carwyn Jones, AM for Bridgend and First Minister, it is quite extraordinary, I feel, that a person in office and holding the positions that he does, is falling back on the 'old blame culture' – Westminster is to blame for things he has quoted.

Surely he is aware that there has been a recession worldwide and that the Labour

Government when in power at Westminster, went on spending on such things when the country and taxpayers did not have the money to do so?

If he feels so strongly about these issues, why does he not go on to include the cost to the taxpayers if these things were to be re-instated?

Would the forthcoming elections next year have a bearing on this, I may ask?

Mr Paul Clarke,
Barry.

'CAR PARK CHARGES ARE NOT THE ANSWER'

AS a long time resident, born and brought up in Cowbridge and having seen the town evolve into what it is today, I do not think introducing car parking charges is the answer to solving its parking issues.

For local businesses to think this will boost trade in the town is, I feel, to say the least naive! It is well known that many people from outside choose to visit Cowbridge and spend their money for the convenience of being able to park their cars without having to pay high parking charges.

If the Cowbridge Chamber of Trade think introducing such a scheme is going to help the town prosper, I suggest they take a walk around other towns in the area where this has been done – such as Barry, Bridgend, Porthcawl, etc, to name but a few and see how many shops in these towns are closed and boarded up.

For the Vale Council to arbitrarily say this will

'More houses will worsen problem'

IT is gratifying that the Vale Council now appear to acknowledge that Cowbridge has a car parking problem.

The next step would be for them to acknowledge how much worse that problem will be when all the additional houses are built – that are planned in the LDP for Cowbridge and nearby villages.

Most people do not have an alternative when they park, and if car parks are full now, they will remain full after charging has been introduced. Meanwhile, we shall see more and more on-street parking in residential streets.

Perhaps the Vale Council should be putting money aside for a multi-storey car park in the town centre, the logical consequence of all their (sustainable) proposed house building.

I am sure none of us would like to see one, but you can't magic cars off the streets.

Cowbridge

'Let's all shop out of town!'

BY charging for parking in Barry's car parks, the revenue the council is expecting to gain will be yet another nail in the coffin of our town centre.

So what Brain of Britain thought this one up I wonder? To shop in your local home town is now going to add massively to your shopping budget. So why should we shop in Barry?

'Wrong to increase parking charges'

ITHINK it is wrong that the council is putting up charges at car parks in Barry.

People will stop coming into Barry. They will kill the town off if they carry on charging. (Name and address supplied).

'free up' parking spaces, without providing any evidence to support this, is unacceptable.

Obviously, they would be in favour of such a scheme as a convenient cash cow to be milked to help swell their coffers, but before such a scheme is introduced, the question I would like answered is where is it intended to spend the revenue raised from this?

Is it simply to help cover the shortfall the council are facing as a result of inadequate fiscal management? Another option the council could consider, if they wish to raise revenue, is the introduction of residents' parking permits for those who live in houses that do not have the benefit of off-road parking.

Although not in complete agreement, what Vale MP Alun Cairns is suggesting seems to be a more reasonable approach to resolve the matter, as clearly what is needed are more parking spaces instead of more persecution of motorists visiting the town.

The old cattle market below The Butts is one place that could be turned into parking. This has not been used for many years and has simply been left to lie derelict.

Also, the old bowling green area where the new market is and the field area behind the police station houses serves no useful purpose, apart from providing access to the Verlands and the old school rugby field (not used very often since the new school was built on the Aberthir road) present other options for parking areas.

It seems to me this matter has not been properly thought through and I suggest those who think it is the answer, take heed that it could have the opposite effect and spell the death knell of trade in the town.

Andrew Small,
Cowbridge.

Better solution to parking spaces?

ISUSPECT most people in Barry and Cowbridge will see the introduction of parking charges as just another means for the council to generate income from us tax payers.

Cabinet members whose areas are not affected by the proposal for car parking charges are seeking to justify the decision to impose charges on Barry and Cowbridge, ('Parking charges are on the way', The GEM, July 30).

But why just Barry and Cowbridge? Coun Burnett explains on social media that "This report deals with those first" and "There is no town centre car park in Penarth".

So that's alright then! Coun Gwyn John from Llantwit Major, claims "charges are geared towards creating an increased turnover, freeing up parking spaces for shoppers popping into town – rather than those who would otherwise sit in a space all day".

He said it is "not just about generating much-needed income. We (presumably the council or cabinet) are confident that increasing parking turnover, ... will help our town centres and resorts thrive by increasing the availability of spaces and reducing congestion."

If they really believe that, why aren't cabinet members from other shopping areas, eg Llantwit and Penarth, demanding that they, too, need parking charges so that their towns thrive?

There are better ways to increase the availability of spaces: what about free 20 minute or one hour parking areas? And in terms of generating much needed income, why not merge with another council and save a few £million every year?

Why go against public opinion?

With reference to biomass plants, I have worked as an instrument and control engineer on many installations – ie boilers, waste furnace and other plants of the above nature.

When new, these installations require constant attention, because they stray into the dangerous levels of toxicity.

When slightly older, they get worse and are always deviating from safe level.

Bearing in mind that the wind in Barry is generally in the west, which would put Sully and Penarth in the toxic footstep, any other would put the aforesaid footprint over Barry. Remember coal dust everywhere?

Mr Kennett needs to live near one of these plants to enjoy the 'pleasures' of fall-out.

I cannot understand why the powers that be would consider going against public opinion in this matter.

Barry Prince, Barry GEM NOTE: This letter was written before last Thursday's planning committee meeting that approved the scheme.

'Welcome back, MV Balmoral'

IT is great to see the refurbished MV Balmoral back sailing in the Bristol Channel and I have recently enjoyed two trips aboard, one to Bristol up the River Avon and under Brunel's Clifton Suspension Bridge, and another to Ilfracombe.

All credit to the volunteers who have worked to diligently in raising around £400k for this fine ship's restoration.

The weather so far this season has been very unsettled, resulting in many problems for the White Funnel Company.

Hopefully, we can look forward to some sunshine and folk in the Bristol Channel area and elsewhere will give their support by booking some of the voyages on offer.

There is no better way of viewing the superb coastline on both sides of the channel.

As the saying goes, "Use it or lose it".

Bus stops, for a long walk!

IFIND it amazing, that even during the school holidays, Cardiff Bus cannot run Service 96 to the now thriving Barry Island – instead, leaving families faced with the long walk from the Ship Hotel to the Island and back.

Cardiff Bus gave up running buses to Tesco and Marks & Spencer at Culverhouse Cross years ago. Thankfully, that service has been re-instated by NAT Travel.

Cardiff Bus use a strap line "We'll get you there"....erm, I don't think so.

Choir presents 44th annual concert to a packed-out hall

AS usual, Cowbridge Male Voice Choir's 44th annual concert on Saturday (July 25) in Cowbridge Leisure Centre was very well attended, with all seats taken.

Unfortunately, the professional soloist for the concert was unable to attend through illness; however, we were treated to performances from two young ladies, Verity-Belle Atkinson and Elinor Parsons, who were the winner and runner-up respectively of this year's Llantwit Major Rotary Club young vocalist competition.

They demonstrated to the audience that there is plenty of first class young musical talent in the Vale of Glamorgan.

The choir began with a dramatic rendition of the Breton nationalistic song 'Keltia', which we learned some years ago while in France from a Breton male choir.

Each of the four sections of the choir was positioned in a corner of the hall, to great dramatic effect.

After marching on to the stage to 'Y Bob Un', we sang a set of four songs, including 'You Raise Me Up', 'The Water is Wide', the wonderful Welsh hymn 'Nazareth' and the Hungarian folk song 'Dana Dana'.

The last of these is sung at an absolutely furious pace and as this was the first time the choir had performed this piece in public, we were quite relieved when we all got to the end at the same time!

Verity-Belle Atkinson now sang a set of contrasting songs including Puccini's 'O Mio Babbino Caro' and Elinor Parsons.

'The Girl in 14G' by Jenine Tesori. The next set from the choir began with the well-known 'Cavatina', which was the theme from the film The Deer Hunter, followed by our MD Shelley Thomas Brown's fabulous arrangement of Queen's 'Bohemian Rhapsody'.

These two songs were followed by the spiritual 'My Lord, What a Morning' and to end the first half, the challenging 'Hallelujah Chorus' from Handel's Messiah.

The second half began in rather similar fashion to the first as the choir was distributed around the hall, singing the German 'round' 'Sing Dem Herrn'. Once safely back on stage, we sang a set of four songs, starting with the atmospheric 'White in the Moon'.

Next came the rollocking 'Cavalry of the Steppes', followed by the much more sedate 'Calm is the Sea' and the Welsh Hymn 'Tydi a Roddaid'.

Soloist Elinor Parsons now took the stage and sang a set including 'Maddona and Child' by Eric Thiman and 'Fe'rh Gofial Di' by Rhys Jones.

The last set by the choir consisted of 'O Gymru', Robbie Williams' 'Angels', the hymn 'St Clement (The Day Thou Gavest, Lord, is Ended)', finishing up with a medley of Beatles' songs.

Shelley Thomas Brown and Sandra Williams.

As always, the audience was invited to join in with the Beatles' songs. The audience then insisted that we sing an encore, which was the rousing Welsh hymn 'Gwahoddiad'.

Our MC for the concert was Jon Wilks, who presented the concert programme in both an informative and humorous manner – and although he used the microphone, he really didn't need it, as he is the official town crier for Cowbridge!

Presentations were made by the choir chairman Leon Fear to musical director Shelley Thomas-Brown, choir accompanist Sandra Williams, soloists Verity-Belle Atkinson and Elinor Parsons, and to their accompanists Helen Morgan and Jane Coles respectively.

He also thanked the audience for their attendance and hoped they had enjoyed the concert. Judging by their feedback, they had enjoyed a wonderful evening of musical entertainment.

More on the history of Dyffryn House

THE speaker at the July meeting of Cowbridge Friendship Club, was Gwerfyl Gardner, who gave a very informative talk on the history of Dyffryn House illustrated with various slides from the 17th Century.

There were several owners of Dyffryn and in the late 19th Century it was bought by Welsh coal baron John Cory and his family, whose family developed the spectacular gardens stretching over 55 acres.

Apart from the history of Dyffryn House, we also heard about the history of St Nicholas, where at one time there was an inn, but this was purchased by owners of Dyffryn, who transformed it into a coffee house and reading room.

The entire estate passed into the hands of the Vale of Glamorgan Council in 1996, and has undergone extensive restoration, with the help of over £6m in funding from the Heritage Lottery Fund.

The National Trust has been granted a 50-year lease on the estate from the Vale Council, and is now responsible for its care and development. Time passed very quickly and then it was time for afternoon tea with homemade sandwiches and cakes.

Meetings are held on the last Thursday of every month, when we have a variety of activities. Call 01656 668446 to find out more about the club.

PAT SMITH

LONG-STANDING customer Susan Evans took centre stage when the new-look Lloyds Pharmacy in Cowbridge officially opened its doors on Thursday.

Enhanced services at the revamped store have a particular emphasis on skin health and pain management.

Rhian Phillips, pharmacy manager, explained: "We're excited by our transformation; we want our new store to become the destination of choice for customers looking for expert health advice."

The community pharmacy has moved from 41 High Street to The Broad Shoard, opposite Cowbridge medical centre.

Murder mystery in aid of charities

FOLLOWING the frantic pace of the past couple of months, now with most organisation and groups also taking a breather, and with August traditionally being a quiet month (with only the Vale Show), we also have time to slow down a little and concentrate on our fundraising in aid of the charities we are supporting this year.

On Saturday, August 1, we saw our most successful coffee morning to date and we would like to thank all who attended, from Cowbridge and Llanblethian and visitors, also all those who very kindly donated the delicious cakes which were very much enjoyed.

On Saturday, August 22, we will be holding an evening of entertainment in aid of our charities, Prostate Cymru and the Motivation and Learning Trust. A Murder Mystery Night at the Town Hall Cowbridge called The Honourable Gentleman, – the first president of Wales finds himself caught up in scandal, intrigue and murder, and you will be presented with the clues and (hopefully) be able to solve the mystery, of who done it!

Included in the evening will be a two-course, sit down buffet, which will include a vegetarian option. Although there will be no alcohol on sale, you are invited to bring your own favourite tittle and we will provide the glasses.

Tickets £25 pp can be purchased either from the Town Hall on Monday to Friday (9am-1pm) or by contacting me direct by email davecptmorriss@tiscali.co.uk or on 01446 774520.

Llantwit man is making his mark in the world of tennis

by PHILIP IRWIN

A FORMER junior member of Llantwit Major Tennis Club has been making his mark in America.

However, Oliver Stephens' success story is not a case of trading aces with Andy Roddick or marathon five-setters against Michael Chang.

He grasped the opportunity of going to university in America, and ever since he has been building a reputation in the world of tennis coaching.

Oliver is now in his late thirties, but at the age of 18, he went to the Methodist College in Fayetteville, North Carolina, on a sports scholarship, to study tennis club management.

It was early evidence of his enthusiasm for the game. Until the age of 15, he was good enough to harbour dreams of going on to play at Wimbledon.

However, when he realised that worldwide there were hundreds of other players as good or better, his thoughts turned to how he could take his passion for the game and make a career.

He did his own research, applied to American colleges on his own initiative, and headed off across the Atlantic!

After a year in North Carolina, he was able to transfer to the Dennis Van Der Meer College in Hilton Head Island, South Carolina, to complete his training in tennis performance and teaching.

The Dennis Van Der Meer College is highly-regarded and Oliver's family say that this was an important stepping stone.

He then moved on to Mount Olive College in South Carolina to do a two-year business study degree, before returning to tennis to put those skills to use.

The position of a tennis coach followed, and in 2011 he was coaching in Chicago, where he was director of the junior competitive programme at Midtown Athletic Club in Chicago.

He qualified with the Professional Tennis Registry (PTR) as a 'Master of Tennis' and became a tester for the organisation's junior development pathway (he was already an adult tester).

PTR is a global organisation of tennis teaching professionals, with 14,000 members in 117 countries.

In 2012, Oliver was awarded PTR 'Clinician of the Year', and recently, the International Tennis Association (ITA) awarded him the title of 'Master Tennis Performance Trainer' – one of only five in the association!

In Oliver's case, it all started in the small tennis club of Llantwit Major, at the age of 10!

THE 1st Cowbridge Scouts enjoyed their first organised summer camp for several years, after 20 Scouts and four adult leaders made the trip to north Cornwall for seven nights camping at the Nine Ashes Scout Activity Centre.

The Scouts, aged between 10 and 13, took part in a whole range of exciting activities including coasteering, surfing, hiking, and crate stacking (a fun team building exercise which involves trying to build a stack of crates while staying on top of it – much more difficult than it sounds).

The troop also spent a day at the Eden Project near St Austell, where they learned about our UK connections to the tropical rainforests of the world.

During the hike, some of the group even got an unplanned safety talk from the Coastguard, after they witnessed the rescue of two stranded kayakers by the Coastguard and RNLI.

As well as enjoying all these special activities, the Scouts also had to look after themselves for the week.

Under the supervision of the leadership team, they put up their own tents, cooked for themselves and generally maintained the campsite – learning many basic life skills including team leadership, map reading, chopping wood and cooking – even tasks as simple as buttering bread for the first time.

Camp leader Piers Hallihan said: "All of our training through the year builds up to this camp; the Scouts get an opportunity to put into practice the skills they've been learning in the Scout hall and grow together, as a troop, as small teams and as individuals.

"Our young people did Scouting in general, and Cowbridge in particular, proud. Everywhere we went, from the campsite to the Eden Project, and on our regular trips to the beach, people were complimenting us on the behaviour and attitude of the Scouts. It was really great to be involved."

Pete Gardner, helping out as an adult leader for the first time, said: "It was absolutely amazing to see the difference in many of the Scouts as they were learning to take responsibility for themselves and others for the first time. Having the opportunity to learn those kinds of skills in such a fun, supportive and adventurous environment will clearly affect them positively for the rest of their lives."

"It was such a pleasure to be able to be there and be part of the experience. I would encourage any other adults who can spare an evening every now and then to contact 1st Cowbridge Scouts and get involved."

The feedback from the Scouts and parents has been just as good. One Scout, after a very long day's hiking around the Cornish coast, said: "I normally hate walking, but this has been awesome, we saw so much cool stuff!"

One message from a parent really sums up the aims of Scouting.

From a parent: "Thanks for Scout Camp, my son really enjoyed it and returned a far better person."

The camp was made possible by the hard work of an awful lot of Scouting volunteers and with the support of local businesses. Particular thanks go to Ysgol Y Deri in Penarth, who came to the rescue with the loan of a minibus. Also to OBI Camping, who donated a large mess tent which became the centre of the camp – providing a kitchen, dining room and general meeting area.

Due to work commitments, some of our leaders will be moving out of the area soon, which means we'll be recruiting more adult volunteers.

Anyone who would like to learn more about local Scouting and how they can help, can follow @1stCowbridge on Twitter, contact cowbridgescoutgroup@outlook.com or visit www.catvog.org.

COWBRIDGE WILL MARK VJ DAY

AUGUST 15 will see the 70th anniversary of victory over Japan and the end of the Second World War, and in line with events across the country, acts of commemoration will be taking place in Cowbridge to mark VJ Day 70.

Starting at 7pm on Thursday, August 13, a film night in Cowbridge Town Hall will show a number of the original Pathé News clips covering major events leading up to the end of the Second World War, and the months that followed.

There will be no charge for entry and all interested are welcome to attend.

Following a peal of the church bells, at 11am on Saturday, August 15, there will be a very short ceremony and wreathlaying at the Cowbridge War Memorial.

Finally, there will be a service of commemoration in Holy Cross Church at 11am on Sunday, August 16, to remember those who lost their lives both during the Far East campaign, and at home and abroad throughout the Second World War.

I hope that as many as possible are able to attend these events to commemorate these important anniversaries.

TREES, LLANGAN & ST MARY HILL

Your local correspondent is Nancy Davidge, "Tynewydd", Llangan. (01656) 860303

Changing times

THIS week, I am diverting from the three villages – Treoes, Llangan and St Mary Hill – where life continues in a humdrum sort of way, to the town of Cowbridge which is becoming a town of charity shops – four at the moment – and estate agents.

It is a sad reflection of the times in which we live why so many popular outlets are disappearing; and if the cattle market should close, what then, one more superstore?

In the long ago days of my childhood, my friends and I would cycle to Cowbridge to spend our pocket money (sixpence). I can also remember riding one of my father's horses (bareback) to Cowbridge for it to be shod.

I have never had a riding lesson in my life and have ridden horses (my father's) at St Fagans during the last war; and in the Canadian Rocky Mountains.

So, to the powers that be, please give a post office top priority and maintain free car parking.

Club outing ON the last Thursday of the summer term, Young at Heart Club members travelled by coach to the popular Pugh's Garden Centre in Cardiff and then to hostelry in Llantrisant for lunch.

Once again, a big thank you to Anne Ellis, Barbara, Marje and Jean for keeping the club running so smoothly throughout the year. It will resume meetings in the first week of September.

To club members who have been ill and unable to attend meetings, our thoughts are with you. To Sheila Hawkins of Colwinston (who will celebrate her 80th birthday next week), Gladwyn Hawkins, also of Colwinston, and Norma Newman, of Pencoe. Everyone at the YAH Club sends their love and hope you will be well enough to return to meetings.

Saron Chapel

THE service held at Saron Chapel on Sunday, August 2 was well attended, with parishioners from Coychurch, Treoes, Llangan and St Mary Hill.

It was a special service for St Mary Hill couple, Gloria and Tom Harry, as the officiating clergy is a close of relative of theirs.

WELSH MEDICS ON THE FRONT LINE...

The July meeting of St Hilary WI was held in the Village Hall recently, when members agreed to purchase a slate display plate for the tree to be presented to St Hilary village, in celebration of the centenary of the Women's Institute.

Members who attended the Margam garden party thoroughly enjoyed themselves and were looking forward to attending a coffee morning at Maria Webber's house today (Thursday, August 6).

The meeting

ST HILARY WI NEWS

continued with a talk by Dr Alex Rees on Mothers of Africa, a medical educational charity that trains medical staff in sub-Saharan Africa to care for mothers during pregnancy and childbirth.

It is run by medical volunteers, including Dr Rees, from Welsh hospitals. Many mothers in Africa die in childbirth, as the medical facilities are so primitive, so the main purpose of the group is to train local people as nurses, mid-wives and anaesthetists especially, as some countries only have one anaesthetist per million population.

The project is on-going, with the end goal being to enable the various communities to be self-supporting and sustainable. It was heart-rending to see the plight of so many pregnant mothers and very small babies, but also uplifting to see the great work being done, on their behalf, by a group of dedicated and diverse Welsh medical practitioners.

The evening ended with the usual delicious refreshments, supplied this month by Jo Williams and Joy Rees. The group does not meet in August, so the next meeting will be held on Tuesday, September 8 at 7pm in the village hall.

New direction for the Memo

MEMO Arts Centre, Barry will be installing new digital cinema facilities for live stream theatre productions and blockbuster cinema releases, after securing an Arts Council of Wales capital Lottery grant of £191,730, and Vale Council support of £47,000 from regeneration funding.

General manager, Kate Long said: "This is an exciting new venture for the Memo Arts Centre. The venue has played an important part in the life of the town for over 80 years. Many local people have fond memories of attending events and performing at the Memo and this cinema development will create another fantastic opportunity for this to continue. We can again provide blockbuster and live stream cinema in Barry for the local and wider community."

Nate Palmer finds some Roman flint.

ON Friday, July 10 class 3 from St Nicholas C/W Primary School joined the dig taking place at Caerau Hill Fort, overlooking Cardiff.

The children were given a tour of the site, asked the archaeologists probing questions and got to handle some of the artefacts found from the Neolithic, Roman and Iron Age time periods.

The children, in partnership with Dylan Adams and a wide array of musical instruments, also performed a Neolithic ceremony, which included rhythmic dance, gymnastic routines, warrior battles and an appreciation of music through the beat provided by the drummers.

This was greeted with rapturous applause by the mesmerised audience.

The children had previously performed at Tinkinswood Burial Chamber at Dyffryn, but took this performance to another level.

Jason Downey (class teacher) stated: "The children were magnificent and during this field trip got a far deeper appreciation and understanding of how people lived in the past than any text book or the Internet could have given them."

Mandy Davies added: "Working with the FUW, Cowbridge Town Council, the Vale Council and a host of other local organisations, we have developed plans for a sustainable community resource."

"The creation of the Market Quarter is set to benefit everyone, not just the farming community. It will allow us to raise the profile of Cowbridge as a destination for day visitors, boosting footfall and increasing spend in support of our local businesses.

"It will increase parking facilities in the town, provide a space for community enterprises and start-ups to showcase their products, and provide a versatile venue for activities, festivals and fayres."

Now that the project has been given the green light by the council, the VMCE is embarking on a fundraising exercise so that work can start on the scheme.

Targeting £500,000 within the next 12 months, it is applying for grants from organisations, including the Big Lottery Fund, and at the Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Show, it is launching a Community Bond Scheme.

The community can buy bonds for £1,000 which will be repayable after 10 years over a five-year period at a premium of 25 per cent.

These bonds will fund the new building. Other costs – those of resurfacing the car park, demolishing the old cattle sheds and the disused toilet block, and refurbishing the livestock market, will be paid for by the Vale Council from the proceeds of the portion of land going to residential use.

David Harris of VMCE, said: "We have been fortunate to receive some funding from Cowbridge Town Council, Farmers Union of Wales and the Vale Council to get this project off the ground."

"However, we now need a cash injection to fund the development of The Exchange. While we will be applying for a number of grants, we hope the local community will get behind this exciting scheme through purchasing bonds – given that this is a resource being developed by the community, for the community."

Coun Lis Burnett, cabinet member for regeneration at Vale Council and a supporter of the proposal, commented: "As a strong believer in the ability of local communities to deliver solutions for local residents, I am delighted to see the newly-unveiled plans and wish the Vale Market Community Enterprise every success as they take their venture on to the next stage of development."

For more information on the community bond proposal, email info@theexchangecowbridge.co.uk or visit www.theexchangecowbridge.co.uk

The VMCE will have a presence on the FUW stand at the Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Show on Wednesday, August 12. People are invited to the stand to find out more about the Market Quarter scheme, and to pledge their interest in the community bond scheme.

There was support from the farmers too. FUW Glamorgan county executive officer Rachel Saunders said: "The previous Vale Council intended to sell the site to private developers in the past but thanks to the combined effort of the VMCE and local farmers, we have been able to secure its future."

"It is, however, essential for us to make sure that there is enough public support for the project via public funding and that's why we urge the public to come and talk to us about the market at the show."

However, there is a sting in the tail because, if this plan fails to take off, the option of selling the land for housing could resurface. The Vale Council recently commissioned the consultants Jones Lang LaSalle (JLL) to produce an 'Asset Management Review'.

That consultants' report, released at the end of July, argues that if Cowbridge can't make this scheme happen, then the option of selling the site for development should be back on the table.

The report has this to say: "Cowbridge Cattle Market – this site together with the adjacent public convenience, scout hall and property let to an amateur dramatics group represents a valuable residential development opportunity."

We are aware of the proposals put forward by the Vale Market Action Group for a mixed use development incorporating a livestock market, and the position of the Vale Council in this regard.

We have some reservations regarding the viability of this proposal as currently envisaged and subject to the outcome of the existing arrangement, we would strongly recommend that this site be considered for a comprehensive residential development which may include an element of retirement living accommodation – as this is likely to realise the maximum value."

In the meantime, the adjacent assets (the scout hall and Market Theatre) should be retained so as not to prejudice any plans for future development that might include these assets. The public convenience is derelict and should be demolished if budget allows."

The community bond – given the present level of interest rates – appears to be a competitive rate. The level of support for that bond over the coming months could be crucial...

Get running this bank holiday!

LLANTWIT MAJOR is preparing for a festival of running on the August Bank Holiday weekend, in what aims to be an annual event.

Joint organiser Matthew Mazzitelli told The GEM: "We felt that we needed to create an event to get youngsters and adults off the sofa, convince them there is more to life than TV and video games and to remember a good friend and very competent runner, David Synan, who passed away earlier this year."

From small beginnings, that idea has developed into a three-race event with opportunities for all ages to compete in one kilometre, five kilometre or 10 kilometre races. The 10k race takes in a large stretch of the beautiful Heritage Coast between Llantwit Major and Summerhouse Point and is off road for 80 per cent of the route.

The 5k race is a scenic trip from the town to Llantwit Major Beach and back. Youngsters of any age are encouraged to enter the 1k race, which will take place entirely within the boundaries of the town's rugby fields, completely free from traffic.

Prizes will be available for first home in various age groups, plus team prizes, and it is worth remembering that the winner of each race will be making history as they will get the course record," said John Lewis.

Support from local businesses, large and small, has been astonishing and the team are extremely grateful for this. "There are too many to name individually," said Dawn Howles.

"We hoped for some support but we are frankly amazed at the level of enthusiasm. It is becoming very much a Llantwit Major event."

The start and finish is adjacent to the town rugby club and they have opened their doors to provide facilities on the day. There is, in fact, a beer festival there after the event for athletes looking for refreshment!

Anyone who feels that running the race might be too much for them is invited to assist by marshalling the event. If you feel you could help, please contact the organisers through the website below or on the Facebook page. The event is fully approved and licensed by Welsh Athletics.

To enter any of the three races go to www.llantwitmajor10k.co.uk and either download an application or enter on line. Entry forms are also available in the town hall and rugby club. The Facebook page has more details and photographs of the route.

Proceeds from the races will go to Wales Air Ambulance and Barry & Vale Harriers, who are helping to arrange the event.

'Thank you' from Llanilltyd Fawr in Flower group

ON Saturday, July 25, the charity Llanilltyd Fawr in Flower held a collection in Llantwit Major shopping precinct to raise funds for the town's floral displays.

In the sunshine, with Sue Banks and her pupils playing their harps, the morning was a real celebration of the surrounding flowers, which were looking brilliant.

The collection on the day, together with the collection box from Health Conscious shop and donations since, achieved a wonderful £690.

Chairwoman Tina Benfield said: "This is such a boost to our funds and I want to convey our heartfelt thanks to Llantwit residents for their support. It costs over £3,000 a year to plant and look after year-round flowers so the money raised now, and the £1,300 raised a few weeks ago at the coffee morning and plant sale, go a long way towards covering our annual costs and for this we are truly grateful."

"We also felt the collection morning served a second purpose in underlining that the town's flowers depend entirely on voluntary effort."

"People may wonder why the floral displays cost so much but there is much more to putting them up than buying the flowers, which themselves cost over £1,800 per annum."

"Our volunteers provide over 400 hours of free labour but there are a number of back-up costs. For example, the cost this year of new brackets for flower baskets was £300 and the cost of a replacement planter last year was £450."

"Sometimes a new pump is needed or new tools, then there are costs of tap and hose repairs, compost, feed, gravel, paint, basket liners, padlocks, wire, stakes etc. Insurance alone is £260 pa."

Tina said: "Our new shed, needed when the council could no longer house the bowser, cost £500 and although the Lions very kindly donated £200 towards it, we still had to pay the balance. When funds allow, we also give small grants to businesses who could not otherwise afford to put up flowers, and these also improve the town."

"We do receive the occasional council grant of £100, and some grants from other sponsors, but these are not enough to cover our costs. So, thank you to everyone who has given so generously and helped us to continue making Llantwit blossom."

PARKING CHARGES ARE THE HOT TOPIC

AS readers of The GEM's letters page this week will note, the issue of car parking charges has been a hot topic this week, writes Philip Irwin.

In fact, because the BBC had first sight of an RAC document listing how much councils in Wales made from car parking charges, Cowbridge found itself on the evening news.

Although the RAC revealed that the Vale Council only earned £53,000 through parking charges, the proposal to charge in Barry and Cowbridge prompted the BBC to head for Cowbridge to listen to traders' concerns.

Since the charges were proposed, retailers in the town have met to discuss the situation, and another meeting is planned over the weekend.

The chairman of the Cowbridge Chamber of Trade, Alun John, said that it appeared that retailers were favouring a softer charging system, with the first few hours free.

He said that the feeling was that there had been a lack of consultation with the Vale Council.

See next week's GEM for more on this topic.

Eira is a 'Big Ideas Wales' role model

A COWBRIDGE businesswoman has been selected as a 'Big Ideas Wales role model'.

Eira Culverwell, managing director of RESOLVE it, a community interest company that delivers personal safety workshops in educational establishments, charities, businesses and not-for-profit organisations empowering individuals to stay safe, has been chosen to help inspire the next generation of entrepreneurs.

In her new role, she will visit schools throughout Wales and provide inspirational talks to young people about her entrepreneurial journey and how she overcame bullying, which led to her career in helping children and adults stay safe.

Big Ideas Wales is a Welsh Government campaign to inspire young people across Wales to be more entrepreneurial and to assist those interested in starting a business to take their idea forward.

Eira comes from an eclectic martial arts background having started at a young age as a result of childhood bullying. She holds two black belts and is 4th Dan black belt in her respective style in Wales and runs two busy karate clubs in her spare time.

VILLAGE CELEBRATES ITS LATEST ACCOLADE

Images by IAN DIXON

AS was recently reported in The GEM, Peterston super Ely won the Challenge Cup for the Vale Village of the Year, and a second Cup in the village appearance category.

The two trophies were displayed at a celebration morning hosted at the church and community hall on Saturday, (August 1) by the community council.

The council chairperson, Mrs Jan Parry, welcomed the villagers who packed the hall and complimented those whose unheralded work ensured the smart upkeep of the village, plus the organisers of the many village activities that accommodated the needs of a wide age range – from children to senior citizens.

"The occasion was rounded off with copious amounts of tea, coffee and homemade cakes," it was reported!

Dinas remembers another of its heroes who fell in Great War

AUGUST 12 sees the 100th anniversary of the death of 34-year-old Ernest Johnson, a young regular soldier from Dinas Powys, who went to France in 1914 with the British Expeditionary Force to defend France and Belgium in the First World War.

Ernest was originally from Alvington in Gloucestershire, but moved to Dinas Powys when in 1909 he married Rose Naldrett, whose father was the foreman gardener at the Eastbrook nursery, which then flourished in the Chapel Row area.

They later had a young son, Ernest Rex who, sadly, like so many others of that generation, never got the opportunity to know his father. He was just four when his father died.

Ernest was by profession a platelayer on the railway, in much demand as the railways expanded in south Wales. He used his skills when he joined the 2nd Battalion of the Welch Regiment attached to the 107th Company of Royal Engineers.

The Royal Engineers were involved in a variety of construction projects including the building of bridges and railways, as well as tunnelling beneath enemy lines to lay explosives.

The battalion embarked for France in August 1914, though records indicate that Ernest did not reach France until November, therefore avoiding the early carnage of the Battles of Mons and the Marne.

The regiment was involved in winter operations through 1914 and the following spring, including the Battle of Aubers Ridge in May. But after a year in the field, Ernest was killed in action on August 12, 1915, the third of the 38 men from Dinas to lose his life in the war.

Ernest is buried at plot F37 in the Cambrin churchyard extension. Cambrin is a village just east of Bethune and north of Arras, and was then located about 800 metres from the frontline trenches.

He is also proudly remembered on the war memorial at the Twyn in Dinas Powys.

PLAN AHEAD FOR THE PERFECT CONSERVATORY OR ORANGERY EXTENSION

When is the best time to start planning for a new conservatory or orangerie?

It's a question we are asked frequently at Securahome, and the answer is, as soon as you can.

With many conservatories, the process from consultation to build is quick and straightforward. However if, for example, your house has previously been extended, you want an orangery extension or drainage needs to be moved it can take months rather than weeks to get any necessary approvals.

At Securahome, we act as project manager on every new conservatory or orangery build and frequently deal with extensions that require permissions. In our experience it pays to allow at least 10 weeks for authority planning permission, with sewer agreements often involving a similar timescale.

When it comes to design, there are plenty of options to consider. Once you've spoken to a conservatory or orangery specialist, allow time to consider the layout and how you will use your new room as well as those all-important design features, before formal plans are drawn up and submitted.

This is your home, so it is important that everything is perfect.

In gardening terms, to ensure that you are sitting back in your new room when there's blossom on the trees, it makes good sense to set the process in motion before snowdrops send up their early green shoots.

Barry Air Cadets have an 'adventure' in St Donats!

AIR Cadets from 372 (Barry) Squadron, travelled to St Donats in the rural Vale for a day of exciting and challenging adventurous training.

This training walk was designed to prepare the cadets for their forthcoming Duke of Edinburgh expeditions; with training in navigation, team building, first aid and understanding the country code; whilst following the heritage coast, and enjoying the cliffs, foreshore, nature reserves and ancient churches.

The walk itself was of moderate difficulty, 10 kilometers in distance, which included local tracks and paths through Monknash, Marcross, St Donats and Llantwit Major.

Valeways guided walks

MONDAY, August 10 'Cottage in the Woods': meet at Porthkerry Country Park, at 11am in cafe car park.

Tuesday, August 11 Coffee Shop Strollers meet at 2.30pm outside Llantwit Major town hall; on Wednesday at 10am at the Romilly Cafe, Cold Knap in Barry CF62 6SW.

Also on Wednesday, a relaxing evening walk meeting at 6.30pm at Cosmeston Country Park outside the visitor centre.

On Thursday, August 13 a walk to the beach; meet at Llantwit Major railway station car park at 10.30am.

The cadets saw at first hand the remains of the monastic grange in Llantwit Major, St Donat's Castle and Atlantic College, Nash Point light house, Holy Trinity Church Marcross and St Donat's Church.

Adventurous training forms a very important part of the cadets' training. This covers teambuilding, leadership, mountain craft, camp craft, safety training and navigation before going on the hills.

Squadron training complements and encourages cadets to explore and appreciate the "great outdoors"; improve confidence and fitness, learn new skills and, ultimately, provide enjoyment mixed with excitement.

The cadets who took part were: Rhys Lewis, Kieren Bushell, Tom Browning, Dominic Bushell, James Jelinski and Rhys Horton.

As well as adventure training, cadets also enjoy: flying, gliding, shooting, sports, overseas trips, leadership and citizenship training in a full and action-packed training programme.

If you too have a spirit for adventure, 372 (Barry) Squadron has vacancies for boys and girls between 13-18 years old. The Squadron parades on Mondays and Wednesdays at 7pm-9.30pm near the Memorial Hall. Phone the Squadron on 01446 747734, email oc.372@aircadets.org or visit www.372squadron.org

THE Vale 50+ Strategy Forum gives a huge thank you to Mike Edwards, a founding forum member who recently retired.

A spokesperson reports: Mike contributed to many consultations and working parties for over 10 years. His input included being the executive group chairman and the chairman of the transport task group.

As the executive lead, Mike was a member of a group of Welsh older people's representatives invited to meet with Northern Ireland ministers and senior civil servants to discuss the advantages of the Welsh Government's older people's strategy.

This work supported the decision for Northern Ireland to develop their own strategy and to appoint a commissioner.

As the chairman of the forum transport group Mike supported the development of the free bus pass and the Vale Greenlinks community transport.

We will all miss Mike, and his hard work has not been in vain as the group continues to thrive; 13 members gathered together for a celebratory lunch to wish him well, including the new chair, vice chair and secretary.

The transport task group set up and met for the first time back in January 2007. We now meet every two months and the aims are for us to work with and establish links with transport providers and to influence Welsh Government policy on transport issues.

We are a friendly group and, as you can see by the happy faces in the photograph, we do have fun!

More information on the work of the Vale 50+ Strategy Forum can be found on our website valeopf.webplus.net or by phoning the VOGC Older People's Coordinator John Porter on 01446 709779; or email jporter@valeofglamorgan.gov.uk

Thank you for your support –

Tŷ Hafan's Distribution Centre is moving!

thank you!

Charity No. 1047912

After 13 years, we are saying goodbye to our site at the Ty Verlon Industrial Estate in Barry and hello to our new bigger Distribution Centre at the Waterton Industrial Estate (Unit 7) in Bridgend.

The new Distribution Centre will be taking your donations from August onwards, but you can still drop your pre-loved items locally to one of our Barry shops (2 High Street or 149 Holton Road).

It is due to your incredible support that Tŷ Hafan has been able to expand to 30 shops, generating vital income that allows us to care for children with life-limiting conditions and their families from all over Wales.

FUNDING PRIORITIES THAT UNDERLINE THE COMMITMENT TO YOUNG PEOPLE

IT is good to see children enjoying our parks and beaches along the Heritage Coast this summer; come rain or shine, the best playground in the world is often the beach – so the new attractions on Barry Island are particularly welcome.

Children are enjoying the new climbing wall along the promenade, as well as the chance to swim and paddle with parents, grandparents and friends, watched by lifeguards who play such an important role during the summer months in protecting our children so well.

On August 5, we celebrated National Play Day and fittingly, across the Vale, we see the fruits of Welsh Government funding in the provision of 21st century play areas. It is also good to see new provision for Flying Start in communities like Colcot, as part of the expansion of Flying Start in Wales.

The Welsh Government has already exceeded its 2016 target for Flying Start with over 37,000 children in Wales benefiting from the programme of free childcare and parenting support.

I have been meeting frontline staff over the past few weeks to ask them what they think should be our priorities, given the further cuts by the UK Government to our Budget – which has already shrunk by £1.3bn over the past five years.

Investing in our youngest children as a positive and 'preventative' measure is often highlighted.

We would like to expand this investment further – but if we do, something else would have to go. This is the challenge for the Budget next year, as we wait for the Spending Review budget figures in November.

The 2014-15 progress report for the Welsh

Labour Government's 'Building a Brighter Future' plan, highlights achievements that have been made over the past 12 months.

As well as the expansion of Flying Start, we increased funding to under-5s from low income families through the expansion of the Pupil Deprivation grant – as a result of our Budget Agreement with the Welsh Liberal Democrats.

Headteachers and school governors will know what a difference this funding will make to the life chances of our youngest pupils.

We have also taken the decision to legislate to ban smoking in cars carrying children, and announced an additional £7.6m for children and young people's mental health services.

I was very pleased to meet the Vale Youth Forum recently and thank them for contributing to the consultation which has led to the announcement of a new curriculum for Wales, 'Successful Futures' by the Education Minister, Huw Lewis.

The Vale Youth Forum also took an active part in the consultation about the age at which young people should be able to start voting.

They joined the event in the Senedd involving hundreds of young people from across Wales, with strong views on the subject.

Meeting the Vale Youth Forum at the Vale Show is an important engagement for me, and so too, is meeting Young Farmers clubs, as I did recently at Slade Farm.

Many people are aware of the pioneering Well-being of Future Generations (Wales) Act, which enables us to legislate to ensure the social, economic, environmental and cultural well-being of our future generations should be at the heart of our policy making and budget decisions.

These are our priorities as a Welsh Government. Our investment in children, their early years and education is a test of our commitment to this generation of young people growing up in Wales as well as to future generations.

The Nordic Walking way to keeping fit!

A new Nordic Walking group has been set up in Barry – in collaboration with Age Cymru Nordic Walking Initiative and supported by the Welsh Government.

Instructor Geoff Hollett worked with Rob Wardle, secretary of Dow Corning Retirees Association, to set up the group which meets at 10am on Monday at Cosmeston Country Park.

Geoff Hollett said: "Age Cymru works with the British Nordic Walking Association which, ironically, is based at the Vale Business Park, Llandow. They have developed a programme specifically for those over 50, which provides a free taster course and then a 10-step course over five weeks, which costs £10. People can then join the walking group every Monday.

"The next course will start on August 26 at Porthkerry Park at 11am. There is no need for any equipment, other than sturdy walking shoes and clothing appropriate to the weather."

Nordic Walking was developed in Finland by cross country skiers as an 'off season' ski training activity, to enhance the benefits of walking to keep fit.

Lifeboat rescue drama as vessel runs aground

AT 11.30am on Friday, July 31 both Porthcawl RNLI lifeboats Rose of the Shires and Jean Ryall raced to the rescue of a crew of a 30-foot motor cruiser Alcedo Athis, that had run aground on the dangerous Tusker Rock, two miles off Newton Point, Porthcawl.

When they arrived at the lifeboat station, they could see the vessel leaning to one side in very shallow water on the edge of Tusker Rock. The crew on board the motor cruiser were in a very dangerous situation, as if the boat leaned over too far there was a possibility that they could be trapped in the boat.

The two volunteer crews from Porthcawl RNLI launched immediately, and made their way to the stricken vessel.

Once they were alongside, RNLI volunteer helmsman Ross Purchase put one of his crew on board to assist the two owners of the boat onto the lifeboat. They were then taken to the safety of the lifeboat station at Porthcawl, where they were able to rest until their boat could be refloated.

Helmsman Ross Purchase said: "It was our priority to get the two owners of the motor cruiser off their boat and into safety. Once they were taken ashore, I got to work securing the boat in its position ready for when the tide turned and we could refloat it."

Once the tide did turn, Porthcawl RNLI D Class Jean Ryall re-launched along with the Mumbles lifeboat, and together put a tow on the motor cruiser and towed it off Tusker Rock and on to Swansea.

Joe Simpson, deputy launching authority from Porthcawl RNLI, said: "We don't have many boats run aground on Tusker Rock. The ones that have done over the last 50 years have usually resulted in serious injury to the crew, and the boats usually break up on the rocks."

"Thanks to the good weather we had today, the volunteer RNLI crews from Porthcawl and Mumbles were able to save both the crew and the boat itself."

Bill and Hazel, the crew of the Alcedo Athis said: "We were on our way from Cardiff to Swansea when we ran aground on Tusker Rock. We are very thankful for the speed the RNLI crews got to us, and the effective way they came to our aid and saved us and our boat. The work these volunteers do is fantastic and we thank them greatly."

New ambulance chief ready for the challenge

THE Welsh Ambulance Services NHS Trust has announced Tracy Myhill as its new Chief Executive.

Mrs Myhill, who has been the Interim CEO since October 2014, is a former deputy chief executive and director of workforce and organisational development at Cardiff and Vale University Health Board, with more than 30 years' experience in the Welsh NHS.

She said she was delighted to have the opportunity to lead the organisation at such a critical time in its development: "It's an absolute privilege to lead this organisation. In the 10 months since I joined as Interim Chief Executive, I have taken time to meet as many staff as possible and understand the job they do.

"I have been humbled by the clinical skill and compassion of our staff and blown away by their work in caring for some of our most vulnerable and sick people.

"Of course, we have our challenges and I am absolutely committed to working with our staff, stakeholders and the people of Wales to provide a clinically-led ambulance service that bears scrutiny with the best in the world, and one of which the people of Wales can be proud."

Chair of the Trust, Mick Giannasi, welcomed Mrs Myhill's appointment as a significant step forward in providing stable and strategic leadership for the organisation.

Tories hit at high spending on health agency staff

"CASH-strapped Cardiff and the Vale Health Board is wasting millions of pounds each year on agency fees – money that could be going straight to frontline services," Welsh Tory Leader Andrew RT Davies has claimed.

The regional AM said that figures reveal a combined spend of over £190m in the last four years by Welsh health boards on agency staff (including nurses and doctors). Cardiff and the Vale Health Board spent over £18m and Welsh Conservatives have written to the Auditor General urging him to investigate the figures.

Councillor faces conduct hearing over '£3.5m exit cash' comments

A councillor who voiced concern in The GEM about 'exit packages' costing over £3.5million at the Vale Council is being accused of breaking a code of conduct.

Earlier this year, Rhosie councillor Phil Clarke said that in days of austerity, the public expected every pound to be spent carefully and the council should reconsider its policy on discretionary payments to employees.

He pointed out that exit packages awarded to personnel earning in excess of £60,000 between 2010 and 2014 totalled £3,573,824.

This week, Coun Clarke told The GEM that following the article, he might be in hot water.

"Since being elected as an independent councillor I have been on the 'Early Retirement/Redundancy Committee'. During these meetings I have often scrutinised the higher discretionary payments made to leaving employees in order to prevent any overspend of public finances.

"In January, I expressed my concern and added that some of the councillors on this committee had 'a trade union background'.

"Those councillors now allege that by saying that, it implies that they will vote in a certain way.

"They think I have broken 'The Code of Conduct/Protocol-Standard of Conduct Expected by Members' and have made a complaint."

The issue will be dealt with by the Standards Committee soon.

Coun Clarke claimed whatever the outcome of the conduct hearing, he was in a lose-lose situation.

"The procedure chosen goes to 'Stage 3' in private without the conciliation process and is not subject to appeal which is in discord with the principles of natural justice.

"Should the complaint be upheld I could be censured and publicity given to the names of councillors involved. If not, publicity is not given to the councillors involved.

He said that from the point of view of the councillors involved it was: "Heads we win, tails you lose."

Coun Clarke said he planned to vigorously defend his position.

In January, the Vale Council emphasised it always endeavoured to avoid redundancies and redundancy payments as part of an agreed 'avoiding redundancy' policy.

A spokesman said: "Where redundancies are necessary then payments are made in accordance with the council's statutory requirements and related discretionary provisions.

"The business case for all redundancy payments is considered and determined by the council's 'early retirement and redundancy committee' and all payments are reported in the council's annual statement of accounts."

The GEM approached the Vale Council and a spokesman said they were unable to comment on the Coun Clarke case.

Local primary school girls get warm welcome at Bryn Hafren

BRYN HAFREN SCHOOL hosted its annual transition day in July when pupils and staff from feeder primary schools enjoyed a day of sporting activities.

The PE sessions covered athletics, hockey, netball and gymnastics. The day was designed to help the prospective students feel comfortable in their new surroundings.

VALE Garden Care recently ran a competition to win two tickets to Dyffryn Gardens.

A spokesman for the company said: "The Vale Garden Care team would like to congratulate Melanie Webb, owner of Karma Beauty in Cowbridge, who was the lucky winner of the tickets to visit Dyffryn Gardens this summer."

"We all hope Melanie – and her friend – enjoy their day out!"

Melanie Webb won the recent Vale Garden Care competition.

FORMER athletics star Colin Jackson and his sister, Suzanne Packer, visited the Marie Curie hospice in Penarth on Friday, July 31 to meet day therapy unit patients.

Acclaimed Welsh hurdler Colin and Casualty actress Suzanne, who both attended Llanedeyrn High School, related tales from their childhood growing up in the Cardiff area.

Colin shared stories about his training as a young athlete and TV work with sport stars, including Usain Bolt, while Suzanne told the audience about treading the boards in school plays at Llanedeyrn High School and playing the character of Tess Bateman alongside Casualty stalwart, Derek Thompson, who plays Charlie Fairhead.

The group was also fascinated to hear Colin tell of his involvement in the BBC One genealogy show Who Do You Think You Are?, which traced his ancestral roots back to Jamaica and Panama.

Charity reopens holiday hotel – with a full house!

THE Glamorgan Holiday Hotel, an icon on Porthcawl seafront, has reopened – six months after its future seemed uncertain.

Now run by Welsh charity, Cartrefi Cymru, it had been providing short term holiday breaks for older people and those with disabilities for over 40 years, but closed earlier this year.

Cartrefi Cymru, a not-for-profit organisation, took full ownership and following a refurbishment it reopened on Saturday (August 1).

Chris Lewis, the new manager, has overseen the refurbishment and was on hand to welcome the first guests through the door.

"I am proud of the changes we've made and excited to be welcoming people to this unique hotel. The team have been fantastic getting it ready and I'm confident the hotel will continue to provide wonderful holidays for older people and people with disabilities," he said.

Keith Oxley, of Morpeth, commented: "The Glamorgan Holiday Hotel has been our holiday destination of choice for a number of years. To say we are delighted by the re-opening, is an understatement. Although we live an eight-hour journey away in Northumberland, it is well worth the journey.

"The location of the hotel enables us to visit friends and relatives in the area. The food has always been excellent, as well as the evening entertainments. Its location on the sea front offers lovely views of the beautiful south Wales coast."

Adrian Roper, Cartrefi's chief executive, said: "We're proud of The Glamorgan Holiday Hotel and I know Chris and his team will deliver a wonderful experience for our guests and take the hotel's reputation to new levels. "I'm also pleased that the hotel, which includes a fully-equipped conference suite, will bring an additional boost to Porthcawl's economy."

Campaigner fears car park charges could damage local shopping areas

A Vale campaigner has said it is essential that local shopping areas retain free parking areas to compete with the big supermarket chains.

Paul Haley was responding to the announcement that charges are to be introduced in local car parks.

Mr Haley, chairman of Pride in Barry, who successfully campaigned to bring regeneration funds to the town, said he believed a consultation should have taken place before the introduction of charges.

Last week, the Vale Council announced charges would apply to certain car parks in the area – including three Barry car parks (150 spaces) and two car parks in Cowbridge (just under 200 spaces). Charges will start at £1 for two hours. Three hours will cost £1.60, and up to four hours will cost £2.20.

But Mr Haley argued free parking evened up the competition between shopping areas and supermarket chains.

"In my years with Barry Chamber of Trade in the 90s and Pride In Barry for over a decade, I have always made a case that in order to compete with the likes of Morrisons, Tesco's and now Asda, which all offer free car parking, Holton Road, High Street and Broad Street must have free parking.

"In my recollection, this view has been stated to the Vale Council since around 1999.

"It is a shame that the Barry Development Group was disbanded, which was where these proposals would have been aired to the chamber and traders so that early views would have been raised and, in this case, restated."

The Vale Council believes the pricing structure won't discourage people who use shopping areas, and that this will stop people parking all day for nothing – effectively freeing up spaces.

'FRAGILE'

Mr Haley emphasised that local shopping areas needed to be nurtured.

"Shopping at Holton Road is in a fragile state and it needs care that changes to free car parks at Thompson Street and Holton Rd, that were actually created by the Welsh Development Agency in the early part of Barry regeneration, don't exacerbate the demise of local shops which serve nearby homeowners in Castleland."

Mr Haley said the announcement of charges raised a number of questions.

"The Capita report behind this charging plan is dated 2013, so I wonder why it is only seeing the light of day now.

"Furthermore, it is over 200 pages long so I would ask what the terms of reference are, how much it cost to produce, and why doesn't it list any consultees? Were there any? Were traders consulted? Certainly none in Barry and Cowbridge have been consulted, which are strangely the only areas affected.

"The report contains many council papers over the years about charging, but doesn't show the objections that kicked each one into the long grass.

"Interestingly, the council intends to establish a full-time post as car park charges manager from the revenue generated.

"Each pay and display unit could cost in excess of £7,000 to site – and then £500 per year maintenance. There is no mention of potential fraud which should be assessed, as cash machines and cash collection are a vulnerable target."

Mr Haley said there were real fears it could hit local businesses in the Vale.

"It is very divisive and unusual in not introducing a Vale-wide policy and to only pick on Barry and Cowbridge without consultation. At a meeting with Cowbridge Chamber of Trade this week, I heard their views on specific parking related issues, the reducing footfall of shoppers, high rents, and potential losses of independent shops.

"Cowbridge hasn't been consulted either, and the traders have concerns that the pricing structure will not work to alleviate the shortage of parking spaces and the desire to make customers the priority.

"I am deeply opposed to this, as our local shops in Barry and Cowbridge need support and for our local authority to be encouraging trade and footfall, and not drive customers to large multiples with free car parks, or out of town altogether."

Mr Haley said he wondered whether charging would be extended to on-street parking in the future, and encouraged local people to contact councillors, or the council leader, if they were opposed to charges in local shopping areas.

Keeping fit at College Fields

ABOVE: The Mayor of the Vale of Glamorgan, Coun Fred Johnson, Coun Rachel Kemp, and Avril from FitM8, with staff and residents at College Fields Nursing Home, Barry.

RECENTLY, the Mayor of the Vale, Coun Fred Johnson, paid a visit to College Fields Nursing Home in Barry.

The Mayor was delighted to present certificates to both staff and residents after their successful completion of fitness programmes designed and implemented by Barry business FitM8.

He said: "I am very pleased to present this Investors in Care award to Matron Rachel Kemp and her team. This is just one more reason why College Fields is much more than a nursing home.

"It is a place where residents and staff come together to provide not only excellent nursing care, but a home in the truest sense of the word.

"It is a home filled with love and laughter, outings, special days and special times, all of which make residents, staff and their families feel secure, confident and much loved.

"I was delighted to meet Carl Michael and Avril from FITM8. They have provided an outstanding service."

MP's cycle ride for Prostate Cymru

THE Vale MP, Alun Cairns, joined hundreds of cyclists in London on Sunday for the 100-mile ride to raise funds for Prostate Cymru and completed it in 8 hours 40 minutes.

He reported: "It was a gruelling challenge. I have done some long-distance cycle rides before, for example from London to Paris, but this was very tough. I had so much support locally during the London Marathon, and I am really grateful for the support I received.

"However, this was the first big trip I've done on two wheels this year – I have certainly felt it in my legs this week. It was for a really good cause in Prostate Cymru, so I was determined to get over the finishing line."

'Climb4MND' to scale five peaks for charity

ON August 21, a team of 53 novice mountain walkers begins a massive Motor Neurone Disease challenge, by climbing the five highest peaks in UK and Eire in just three days!

They will take on Carruntuohill (Rep Ire), Slieve Donard (N Ire), Ben Nevis (Scotland), Scafell Pike (England) and Snowdon (Wales) all to raise much-needed awareness and funds for the Motor Neurone Disease Association.

'Climb4MND' has 53 participants, including the Vale and Bridgend as well as a small group of people representing MND Scotland. All participants are incurring personal expense and have spent a lot of time training to prepare for the challenge and are looking forward to setting off up their first mountain.

It will be a huge test of endurance, grit and determination. The mountain-conquering heroes are planning to do a quick up and down south Wales' highest peak Pen y Fan, a mere 886 metres! (Everyone is invited to join them at their homecoming - August 24.)

The team's fundraising will help support the South Wales Care Network joint project between the MND Association and NHS Wales, providing care and advice to people living with MND in south Wales. To date, they have already raised over £10,500.

Anyone wanting to support Climb4MND should visit their JustGiving page at: www.justgiving.com/climb4MND/

Lifeboat answers two 999 calls

THE volunteer crew of Barry Dock RNLI lifeboat rushed into action twice last weekend when a 999 caller said that a small boat was in trouble in the Cold Knap area, possibly with a person in the water on Friday.

The crew found a speedboat in the area that fitted the description, and confirmed that the occupants were safe and well. They checked the rest of the area before returning to the station at 7.15pm.

The second call came on Sunday morning when the Coastguard reported a 42 foot yacht with steering problems off Nash Point, on the outer edge of the area covered by the lifeboat.

"The crew took the stricken yacht under tow, bringing it to the safety of Barry harbour. The lifeboat was refuelled and made ready for its next service by 3.55pm," a spokesman said.

This weekend (August 8-9), RNLI volunteers will be fundraising and raising awareness on the promenade at Whitmore Bay. New volunteers are welcome to join the lifesaving teams. Please contact Julie Sanby at Julie_Sanby@rnli.org.uk or on 07795306994 for more details on the different volunteer roles available.

Hospital corridor of art..!

EUROPE'S longest hospital corridor is now home to over 80 pieces of artwork for the re-launch of the Paintings in Hospitals South Wales hub.

The new display at University Hospital Llandough (UHL) boasts some never-before-seen works from the Paintings in Hospitals art collection, gifted to the charity from the Contemporary Art Society Wales, as well as new interpretative text panels.

Primarily intended to enhance the patient, visitor and staff experience, the display showcases Paintings in Hospitals artwork loan schemes: 'Art for Everyone', 'Art for Children and Young People' and 'Art for Older People'.

The hub site at UHL acts as Paintings in Hospitals regional centre for south Wales, allowing the charity to better reach people in the area and enabling local communities to feel the benefits of having artworks on display in their care environments. The display at UHL showcases artworks from the Paintings in Hospitals collection that are available to be borrowed by all other health and social care organisations throughout the region.

Amisha Karia, head of collections and programming, said: "Art makes a significant contribution to improving the lives, health and wellbeing of patients, service users, carers, visitors and staff. I am delighted that we are able to showcase so many of our artworks at Llandough Hospital.

"I am sure that patients, staff and visitors will find the dynamism of the changing display of great interest, providing inspiration and solace. The display also explores ideas around how art can enhance health and wellbeing. Having artwork displayed at Llandough Hospital helps to create a more comfortable and less intimidating atmosphere for all."

Peter Welsh, general manager at University Hospital Llandough, said: "The Health Board is absolutely delighted to have the Painting in Hospitals South Wales hub based at the University Hospital Llandough. The artworks have already been well received and I'm confident they will be of real interest to the patients, visitors and the wider public who use the site".

To borrow artworks from the Paintings in Hospitals collection, contact Painting in Hospitals on 0207 407 3222 or mail@paintingsinhospitals.org.uk.

CARDIFF AIRPORT PASSES THE ENVIRONMENTAL TEST!

AN extensive audit of Cardiff Airport's environmental management system has led to the achievement of phase two of the BS 8555:2003 Seren Standard accreditation.

This recognises the airport's commitment towards legal compliance, environmental performance and continued improvement.

The standard was awarded following a full two-day inspection, which included an in-depth audit of environmental processes and a detailed inspection of the entire Cardiff Airport site, including the terminal, car parks and airfield. Debra Barber, the managing director at Cardiff Airport, commented: "We have recently completely overhauled our entire environmental management system, putting in new objectives and robust operational procedures.

"The audit was very much an opportunity for us to test this new system and to be recognised for our commitment to environmental sustainability.

"Participation in the Seren Scheme will enable us to control our environmental impact, fulfil our responsibilities to the maximum extent and, most importantly, continue to improve.

"We have also recently been named a 'zero waste to landfill' zone, which is a further testament to this. I am immensely proud of the team for this great achievement.

"Cardiff Airport will continue to work towards the completion of all six phases of the accreditation, in addition to the 'Green Ticks' scheme."

YMCA'S WORLD WAR ONE WORK HIGHLIGHTED IN EXHIBITION

A NEW Great War Exhibition in Barry Library, August 3-16 highlights the wartime contribution of the YMCA.

When people of a certain age think of the YMCA, they probably think of the popular 1970s song by the Village People.

What does not come to mind is the work that the YMCA did to improve the morale and conditions for those fighting in the trenches of the Great War.

Mandy Caddy of Cardiff YMCA, explained: "Supported by the Heritage Lottery Fund, the YMCA exhibition highlights the work of the YMCA during the Great War, when the charity began a programme of support for men and women heading towards the battlefields.

"Thousands of huts were built to provide accommodation and recreation facilities, both at locations en route to 'the front', and just behind the frontline itself. Being this close to the frontline, the YMCA huts themselves were no safe haven, and many were destroyed by enemy artillery.

"Along with providing these comforts, the YMCA also provided the men serving overseas with photographs of their families back home.

"Today, we take for granted how easy it is to take a 'selfie' and share it with our friends, but 100 years ago most people did not have photographs of their families, and that is why the YMCA began the 'snapshots from home' programme, which provided family photographs to over 650,000 servicemen overseas.

"In 1914-16, the YMCA published a fundraising book, Told in the huts, which was made up of stories, poems and illustrations contributed by soldiers and war workers. To commemorate its centenary, we have reprinted this amazing book and it is now available from Amazon.

"We are very proud to unveil the centrepiece of the display which is a large-scale model created by local model maker and enthusiast Ade Pitman. The model is a copy of an actual frontline YMCA in France.

"With the centenary of the Battle of the Somme next year, we expect the new Told in the huts exhibition to be a popular attraction at suitable venues around Wales.

You can find out more about the YMCA during the Great War on our Facebook page or the website at <http://www.lymca.info>

Grow, show and share fills gap at the Garden by the Sea

FRIENDS of St Augustine's Church are launching 'Grow Show Share', a mixture of produce, preserves and craft, all grown or made in or around Penarth.

The town is well known for being the 'Garden by the Sea'; it has beautiful parks, allotments, and many lovely gardens, but no horticultural produce shows! The Friends are filling this gap in September with their first 'Grow, Show and Share' event.

Diana Mead, the last chairman of Penarth Horticultural Society, said: "It is great to see a new horticultural event being created in Penarth. As chairman of the society at our final meeting, I was deeply saddened to see it close but unfortunately, no-one wanted to take over the responsibility of running it and all societies need a changing team of officers and committee to keep them alive and vibrant.

"The new venture is just what Penarth needs; the new ideas are very exciting, they have certainly got me buzzing with excitement."

The event will take place over the weekend of September 19 and 20 in St Augustine's and the plan is to set up the church with spaces for people to display anything they have grown or made. Displays can include produce: flowers, fruit, vegetables, preserves – and there will be opportunities for those who create craft items representing flowers, fruit or vegetables.

Unlike traditional shows, there won't be formal judging. There will be broad categories and, as with the Christmas Tree festival, the public will vote. The event will be opened at 11am on September 19 by Victoria Wade, who was a gold medalist at the Royal Horticultural Show in Cardiff earlier in the year.

There are several categories for children, with something for most ages, including a 60-second video of anything growing in Penarth, miniature gardens, and a photography competition.

Andrew Davison, a committee member of the Friends, believes this event will "fill a gap" and "provide a wonderful opportunity to show the world that Penarth is not just one of the 30 best places to live in the UK, but also somewhere people grow fantastic vegetables, fruit and flowers and are exceptionally creative."

"I loved the old horticultural show and want to help recreate that spirit of excitement and pride – but in a different way that will suit a different generation," he commented.

Entry forms are available from Penarth library, by emailing triciagriffiths65@yahoo.co.uk or phoning: 02920 707828. TG

It is nearly Impossible not to enjoy Cruise's latest Mission...

WHILE many actors slip into their later years by scaling down their workload and dealing with smaller parts, Tom Cruise shows no signs of letting up.

Seemingly intent to do work in the blockbuster genre as much as possible, Cruise, who is now a sprightly 53 years old, makes a return to the Mission: Impossible franchise with Rogue Nation.

Cruise's Ethan Hunt, and his team of IMF agents (among them Jeremy Renner, Simon Pegg and a returning Ving Rhames) have to take down a shadowy group known as the Syndicate, led by Lane (Sean Harris) who are intent on destroying the IMF and causing global terror.

Forced to team up with the mysterious Ilsa (Rebecca Ferguson), Hunt hunts down the group as IMF face their most impossible mission yet...

When a film opens up with a set-piece that sees Tom Cruise clinging manfully onto the side of an aircraft, a stunt that the actor did for real with no CGI trickery involved, it makes a pretty bold statement that this is a film intent on delivering spectacle and action.

Mission: Impossible – Rogue Nation certainly does that, but allied to a story that keeps you engaged with its

by GARETH JAMIESON
Follow Screen Talk on Twitter – @GEMScreenTalk

plentiful twists and turns, it makes for a hugely enjoyable blockbuster film.

If it falls short perhaps of the series' highpoint, JJ Abrams' Mission: Impossible III, what it does have is a greater sense of fun and escapism. The espionage genre has been a little dark in recent times, but Rogue Nation is intent on putting a degree of humour and levity into proceedings.

The screenplay by director Christopher McQuarrie and Drew Pearce is certainly rooted in reality, but not afraid to throw the occasional wink or nod to the audience's way, whether it be characters asking how far Cruise's Ethan Hunt can push himself (pretty far is the answer), or in set-pieces that push the laws of logic and realism, but are such great fun that it matters little.

Incredibly, this is only McQuarrie's third time in the director's chair, having previously written the likes of The Usual Suspects and Edge of Tomorrow, but he directs with such cocksureness and confidence that you could never tell.

A film like this is driven by spectacle, and McQuarrie shows a sure hand, whether it's the opening plane sequence, an underwater heist or, in arguably the standout sequence, an opera-set assassination attempt that not only harks back to the first instalment's director, Brian De Palma, in its balance of tension and high drama, but has the faint whiff of Hitchcock about it without being overly reverential.

These films are vehicles for Tom Cruise, and, as ever, the actor does a good job; it's hard to see where Hunt ends and Cruise begins, and while his character's arc is understated and familiar, he gives a blockbuster performance. Simon Pegg gets more to do than just comic relief this time round, which is a pleasure to see, while the likes of Jeremy Renner, Ving Rhames and Alec Baldwin make no wrong steps.

The standout turn by far is Rebecca Ferguson as the mysterious Ilsa, the Swedish actress stealing the film from her more illustrious cast with a performance that is part femme fatale (another little nod to De Palma and Hitchcock) and part non-sense action star, a breakthrough turn from the Swedish actress who leaves you wanting more come the end.

The only real misstep from the film comes at the climax, the jaw-dropping action sequences that have gone before rendering the more low-key conclusion, and the reveal of Sean Harris' villainous plans, something of a damp squib – yet, given the sumptuous feast we've been given before, the lack of a show-stopping climax isn't felt that hard, with Rogue Nation making the art of good blockbuster filmmaking look anything but impossible.

VERDICT – Making the Impossible look easy, Mission: Impossible – Rogue Nation is a hugely thrilling slice of summer cinema. As ever, Cruise does the super-hero action role to a tee, but there's shade and depth from the likes of Simon Pegg and Rebecca Ferguson's stand-out to support him, coupled with some incredible set-pieces from Christopher McQuarrie's strong direction.

The mission for Cruise and company now, should they choose to accept it, is to try and top this! Highly recommended. SEE THIS IF YOU LIKED: Mission: Impossible III (2006), Kingsman: The Secret Service (2015).

Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Show

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 12, 2015 • FONMON CASTLE

This year's Vale Show is set to be the biggest and best yet!

THIS year's Vale of Glamorgan Show on Wednesday, August 12, is set to be the biggest and best yet – with a huge variety of attractions for all the family to enjoy.

The show attracts a diverse audience, not only from the local farming and equestrian communities, but also creative people with interests in horticulture, crafts, food and more.

Visitors now regularly top 20,000 each year. Car parking is free on the site and the Vale Council support the event by running buses from all over the Vale to the show.

We are delighted to have Nathaniel Cars of Bridgend as our main event sponsor again this year, and we would like to thank Nathaniel Cars and the other businesses and people who support the Vale Show.

2015 sees the return of competitive shearing to the Vale Show and we can't wait! There will be Junior, Intermediate, Senior and an Open class; we are expecting a hectic day of high quality competition and huge audiences cheering on the competitors.

The best shepherds and stockmen will compete against each other for the cleanest shear in the shortest time. This will provide a great opportunity to see professional shearers in action!

Abi Reader of Goldsland Farm, Wenvoe, is working with Glamorgan farmers and Young Farmers to make the event a showcase to inform the public about farming and where food comes from – and also the high standards of milk production and the welfare of the milk they drink.

There will be milking demonstrations during the day and calf feeding. Milky, the wooden cow, will be making an appearance and the very popular remote-controlled tractor course finding your way from the farm to the shops.

Do make an effort to explore the livestock paddock – there are excellent entries in the cattle classes.

The sheep lines see numbers increasing, with a novice sheep and handler class, plus a coloured sheep class.

This year also sees a repeat of last year's wool fleece competition demonstrations, plus a spinning and weaving marquee.

The Tawe and Vale of Glamorgan Guilds of Weavers, Spinners and Dyers will be sharing the sheep marquee; and there will be the chance to learn about the Wonders of Wool with the British Wool Marketing Board's fleece competition, featuring fleeces from local flocks.

The poultry show, run by Callum Griffiths, will be expanding this year – and entries are already flooding in.

Phil Wovles and Gail Wintle organised a very successful revamped horticultural section for the first time last year, hosting over 90 classes. Phil is a champion large vegetable grower and last year we needed a scale and area with a fork lift to weigh the produce that was entered. The horticulture marquee is sponsored by Peter Lynn Solicitors.

The food court is continuing the new look this year with Myfanwy Edwards, of the Vale Farmers' Market, at the helm, and with a Welsh-only theme, over 40 producers will take over a large corner of the field.

The KC registered dog show annually attracts over 700 entries and is well worth visiting for the huge variety of breeds of dog on show.

The home produce marquee has an increase in entries each year and has become a huge spectacle.

This marquee is sponsored by Cardiff Airport. It opens at 12pm after the exhibits have been judged, and promises a wonderful spectacle of baking, craft, photography and preserves on show.

There are plenty of shopping opportunities on the show field. The ever popular Cooke & Arkwright craft fair, over 200 trade stands, and an expanded shopping mall which is sponsored this year by PA Black, will provide a wonderful shopping experience, where you can buy anything from a cupcake to a new car.

In the main ring, there will be horse classes and later in the day there will be the chance to meet the hounds of the Glamorgan Hunt when they parade for us. The main ring entertainment follows the spectacular grand parade and will this year feature Broke FMX and their thrilling stunt motocross show.

To round off the day, there will be a two-bar show jumping competition and the always exciting hunt scurry.

The 2015 Vale Show promises to be a great day out and a very warm welcome awaits you in Fonmon Castle grounds on Wednesday, August 12.

'Welcome one and all to the family show!'

A MESSAGE FROM THE CHAIRMAN

AS Chairman of the Vale of Glamorgan Show, I welcome one and all to come and enjoy this great family day out.

There is no other one day show to rival this diverse spectacle. The show has many attractions that in the Farming in the Vale marquee, run by Abi Reader will give an insight into 'Where your food comes from'. This will be manned by local farmers and members of the Young Farmers Club.

The Glamorgan Yeomanry marquees have been extended to build on the success of their popularity last year. Pop into their tent in the agricultural section. The main ring will be busy with varied competitions through the day, concluding with the Grand Parade, where you can see the excellence of livestock and horses.

Around the show, there are many more attractions for the children and adults – save your legs and use the Road Train, which will take you on a tour of the site; watch a Punch & Judy show; and see if you can find the 'winner' in the Pet Lamb competition.

Thanks go to Nathaniel Cars of Bridgend for sponsoring the show again this year, the committee members and all stewards for their hard work.

I do hope you all have a memorable and enjoyable day in the grounds of Fônnon Castle on August 12.

MRS ELIZABETH SYNAN,
Chairman of the Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Society.

Varied delights in the home produce section

VALE Show visitors are invited to explore the delights of the home produce, floral and craft marquee – and experience the talent from across the county.

As always, the schedule and classes are varied, offering something for everyone, whatever their age.

Bringing together competitors from across the generations, the marquee is full of friendly rivalry on show day!

Organised and run by the home produce committee and sponsored by Cardiff Airport, the marquee is an established tradition at the show and well worth a visit.

A favourite of the day is the Chairman's Cup, with this year's theme being a 'A Taste of Wales', which requires competitors to produce five items of cookery.

Individual competitions include a range of classes in the following sections: preserves, cookery, floral, crafts and arts – not to mention a chance for the male bakers to display their talents in the men's only competition.

Children's classes are divided into three age categories of seven and under; eight to 11, and 12 to 16 years and include arts, crafts and baking.

This year sees pupils taking part in the handwriting competition from Llansannor Church in Wales and Rhws primary schools.

Chairperson of the home produce committee, Mrs Jan Rees, said: "Entries in 2014 were at a record high and this is something we would like to build on this year. I would encourage all ages to try their hand at something that interests them, or come along on the day to enjoy the highlights of the competitions."

On show day, the public are welcome to view the items from 12.30pm onwards. The committee would like to extend their gratitude to the class sponsors for their support, allowing the competitions to take place.

It's never too late to enter – schedules are available from the home produce secretary by telephoning 01443 225202, or alternatively at www.valeofglamorganshow.co.uk.

Excitement builds over the jumps...

THIS year, the show jumping at the Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Show is going to be more exciting than ever before, with over £4,300 in prize money, due to the generosity of our sponsors.

Competitors will be travelling from all around the country to compete in classes from British Novice to the National 1.40m Open, for the top prize of £500 to the winner.

This will be followed by a very exciting speed class, with the competitors going as fast as they can, as well as clearing the fences to try and win the £500 that goes to the winner.

The two-fence challenge will be in the main show ring at 5pm; an exciting class, with competitors jumping two fences, both fences reaching top of the wings by the final round.

Will they beat last year's height of 1.75m?

Horticulture section just can't wait for the off!

ICAN'T wait for this year's show, after the great success of last year where we not only had great entries from all over the Vale, but from as far away as Reading, London and Mansfield.

This year, we see 100 classes in the horticultural section at the Vale Of Glamorgan Show, with classes to suit people of all ages.

I don't think anyone will forget the display of vegetables and fruit from last year's show – it was amazing.

The children's section has a great choice of classes, where they have the opportunity to enter a variety of classes – from the best scarecrow made from recycling, an arrangement of flowers in a welly boot, miniature garden – plus many more.

It was such a pleasure to see the children's enthusiasm, excitement and creativity at last year's show. I can't wait to see this year's entries. We also have a great variety of classes for all you green-fingered garden enthusiasts.

There are classes from the best five potatoes, best nine runner beans, as well as the giant section for the heaviest pumpkin – the longest runner bean to the tallest sunflower.

This created great excitement with visitors last year and is not to be missed.

So come along to the land of the giants – you have to see it to believe it!

...Keep a look out for Phillip Vowles, the horticultural manager, on 'Gardener's World' tomorrow (Friday, August 7), where he spent a day in the garden with presenter Joe Swift.

GAIL WINTLE,
Horticulture Secretary.

Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Show

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 12, 2015 • FONMON CASTLE

See the best of farming in the Vale

THE Vale Show is a chance to see some of the very best this wonderful industry has to offer – from happy healthy cows and the wonderful products they produce – as well as the wildlife and landscape that is tended with very special care.

Our magnificent dairy herds, our farmers, and this beautiful landscape, are under threat from cruel supermarket milk price wars and crippling price regimes.

Inexcusable pressure is being put on our family farms that are the backbone of rural Wales, supplying jobs and businesses to local people.

The survival rates of dairy farms are not in our favour.

MilkMatters –

Ladycows from the Vale of Glamorgan, will be at the show giving live milking demonstrations to reveal the full story about where our delicious, nutritious milk comes from.

Teaming up with their farmers, these 'Ladycow Divas' will tell you how they help to shape and care for this beautiful Welsh landscape.

Meet the pretty little Ladycalves – sadly, their future is under threat from crippling supermarket price wars.

They will tell you what you can do to help them survive this countryside crisis.

Come and see us in the Farming in the Vale tent in the livestock area of the show ground, where a very warm welcome awaits you.

Food, food, glorious food! COME AND SEE WHAT'S ON OUR MENU!

FOLLOWING on from last year's success, the Vale Farmers' Market Food Court has now become a must-see destination on the show field and will be returning once again to celebrate our wonderful local produce.

Our stallholders are all Welsh, many of whom are from right here in the Vale, you will recognise a lot from our very own farming community.

So what better opportunity to showcase the very best of our locally-made, home-grown produce than at the Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Show?

This year's delights include award-winning Welsh cheese, cider, seaweed gin, lamb and lavender sausages, cakes, flapjacks and brownies of every imaginable flavour.

Chutneys, jams, sauces, herb-infused vinegars, salad dressings, ice cream as well as locally made wooden kitchen utensils.

What's more, every single product on sale within the food court will have been reared, produced, or made by the person selling it.

Leave your packed lunches at home: we've got so much food on offer, you'll be spoiled for choice! We have topside beef rolls, pork rolls, duck burgers, lamb burgers and of course a fantastic range of vegetarian delights.

Have a question about what's on offer? No problem, ask the expert that's cooking it for you. Home grown, home reared, home-made... how could you resist?

The food court is being co-ordinated by your very own Vale Farmers' Market, and many of the producers you will see at the show, you can find at the regular Farmers' Market in Cowbridge and Penarth each month.

Why not come along to the food court and find out exactly what great produce is available – and make shopping for local produce part of your weekly shop?

With picnic benches galore, we hope that this is one stop you will definitely make at this year's Vale Show.

There will also be a play area for the children in the food court. Sit back and relax, grab yourself a coffee and a slice of cake, while your children are safely playing.

You can't miss us, we're the enormous green and white striped arena, with giant flags and bunting aplenty.

If you can't find us, just follow the waft of delicious cooking...

MYFANWY EDWARDS,
Food Court Organiser

ROUND OFF THE SHOW IN STYLE!

THIS year sees the return of the show dance on the evening of Wednesday.

August 12 on the show field, in the grounds of Fonmon Castle, by kind permission of Sir Brooke Boothby and family, along with the Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Society.

Hosted by Maendy Young Farmers Club, a warm welcome is extended to past and present members, supporters and friends of the organisation to round-off the show day in style. The evening will feature a live band and DJ, with a fully-stocked bar and refreshments available to purchase.

Although all ages are invited, under-16s must be accompanied by a responsible adult.

Maendy YFC Chairman, Heather Jarvis, said: "The YFC really hope that you will be able to join us at this family event to mark the new venue and support the local rural community."

Doors are open at 7.30pm, with tickets priced at £5 before 9pm and £8 thereafter. For further information, contact Heather Jarvis on 07791 250916, or email maendy.yfc@gmail.com.

Put an end to rodent problems in your yard or stables...

Stable yards can become havens for rats and mice that eat feed and bedding, spread diseases that can harm your horse and could cause expensive damage to buildings and equipment.

We can offer an environmentally friendly way of controlling these pests in the form of working cats looking for a rural retreat – all they need in return is food, water, shelter, a warm bed and the occasional veterinary treatment.

Entries fly in to the poultry show

THE Vale of Glamorgan Poultry Show was a welcome addition to the 2014 Show and after that overwhelming success, we are back and bigger than before.

Entries have flown in, with exhibitors flocking from Norfolk, Cheshire and many far flung areas of Wales. We are very pleased to welcome our judges, Mr Jed Dwight and Mr Rodney Wood, to cast their experienced eye over the entries.

They will travel from West Sussex and the Isle of Wight respectively, to judge this prestigious new poultry show.

This year, one young exhibitor will bring a film crew from the BBC - Rhys Homer will be filmed for a children's television programme and will be teaching viewers about keeping and showing poultry.

Come and visit the poultry marquee at the show and see hundreds of birds, including classes for rare breeds.

There are 94 classes in the poultry show, including a photographic competition for the best selfie taken with your chicken!

Callum Griffiths.

FAMILIAR FACES AT THE CRAFT FAYRE

WE are very much looking forward to welcoming visitors, competitors, and exhibitors to the show; it is difficult to realise that a year has sped by so quickly since last year's show.

It is 37 years since the first craft fair was staged and it is very rewarding to know that some of the craft exhibitors who attended the first fair, still make a special day of the Vale Show every year.

Show day is for the meeting of old friends, as well as making new ones each year. As usual, the quality of everyone's craftwork is excellent and there will be something for everyone who appreciates that special purchase.

There will be a fabulous display of woodwork, pewter, and ceramics. You will also find nursery items and toys for younger friends and family members.

The craft fair will be open at 9.30am and closes at 6pm. I will look forward to seeing you there.

MRS ANNE ARNOTT,
Craft fair secretary.

Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Show

WEDNESDAY AUGUST 12, 2015 • FONMON CASTLE

Why even judges want to return to the dog show!

ONCE again, the Vale of Glamorgan Agricultural Show hosts one of the important dog showing events in the canine calendar.

A wide range of breeds, ranging from toy breeds such as Chihuahuas, to giant breeds such as Great Danes and Irish Wolfhounds, will be on display.

Many of the visitors to the show spend a large part of their day watching the judging, speaking to the exhibitors and spending time among the breeds. Indeed, this is a great way to decide if a particular breed is for you and your family.

Exhibitors travel from far and wide to attend this show and all receive a warm Welsh welcome. It is also worth noting that while numbers of exhibits in many parts of the country are falling, here at this show they remain on a par with previous years.

I feel a major factor in maintaining entries at this level is the superb facilities at the show, with some of the best outdoor rings in Wales, perfectly manicured by the hard working volunteers in the run-up to the show.

Judges, too, come from all parts of the United Kingdom to officiate at this show – and enjoy themselves so much, they want to return to judge different breeds, or even to exhibit their own dogs.

The only other thing needed to ensure the success of this prestigious show is, of course, fine weather, which we all hope is on its way.

We look forward to seeing you on the day, so please come and meet the dogs and their owners who will, I am sure, be pleased to try and answer any questions you may have about their dogs, or exhibiting as a hobby.

PETER PASK,

IT'S NOT JUST HUMANS WHO GET TO ENJOY THE VALE SHOW!

While there's a wide and varied programme of events to satisfy visitors to the Vale Show, there are also curious visitors of the four-legged variety!

REVISITING THE VALE SHOW 2014

Shearing is back, after 15-year break

AFTER a break of over 15 years, the sheep shearing competition is being held again at the Vale of Glamorgan Show.

This time, it will be run by members of the Glamorgan YFC steered by the secretar, Heather Jarvis. There will be four classes – junior, intermediate, senior and open – each enjoying some healthy competition.

During the course of the day, the competitors will shear around 900 lambs.

All the top shearers from Wales and across the border will be competing at the Vale Show, including the present Welsh champion, Richard Jones, and his Welsh team partner Gareth Daniels.

We have secured the support of local businesses in sponsoring the day and it promises to be one of the highlights of the shearing calendar. If you want to become involved in the competition as a helper or sponsor please contact Heather on 07791 250916.

You will find our shearing marquee near the livestock paddock... Come and cheer them on!

When you need us, we are there for you, with Park Vets on-site, 24-hour emergency service.

Relax, with peace of mind that when an emergency arises and you need a vet, Park Vets operates their own personal emergency service.

This means that Park Vets staff who know you and your pet will have all records at hand whilst treating your emergency. Veterinary nurses are on the premises 24 hours a day, 7 days a week so your hospitalised pet is provided with professional continuous care.

Park Vets is the longest established veterinary practice in Cardiff with state-of-the-art equipment and facilities. Our aim is to keep your pet happy and healthy whilst minimising your stress if your pet becomes unwell. We are accessible 7 days a week, with surgeries in Cardiff, Penarth and Pontypridd.

We offer clients unhurried routine appointments during the week and weekend with late evening appointments available. Our nurse clinics are very popular and are offered free of charge to our clients. These clinics specialise in pet weight issues to advise on looking after your pet as he advances in years. You can also speak to us about your pet's preventative care regime, which can range from vaccinations to flea and worm advice, all of which are very important when being a responsible pet owner.

Receive a FREE Dog & Cat Owners' Guide when visiting our stand.

Any Park Vet client who recommends us to a friend - we'll give you both a £5 Park Vets voucher!

FRIENDS
reunited is a great theme of the Vale of Glamorgan Show at Fonmon.

The show is a wonder to behold with attractions and spectacle in equal measure, but more than that it is a great opportunity to catch up with old friends and meet new people. As you can see from Mike Wilcock's photographs of last year's event, everyone, young and old, had a great day out. No wonder people travel to it from all over Wales and from parts of England too.

THE Vale of Glamorgan Show is one of the great days in the south Wales rural calendar. It is different things to different people – a day of interest and entertainment, a chance to bump into old friends, an opportunity to view classes, exhibits and stalls. But as last year's pictures in this GEM feature show, for many people, and particularly the children, it's the wonderful animals that make it so special.

Reality check as boys are asked to: 'Take good care of my baby!'

Barry Comprehensive School students accepted the challenge to care for some very demanding babies!

THE G2E project (Guidance to Engagement, an alternative education programme within the Vale Youth Service) has been working with years 8, 9 and 10 students at Barry Comprehensive School throughout the year.

Recently, the students were given the opportunity to take a high tech RealCare® Baby3 simulator home. These infant simulators are very advanced and have wireless programming and reporting capabilities. RealCare Baby engages users by crying to be fed, burped, rocked or changed and then 'coos' when its needs have been met. The boys had to look after the 'babies' from Friday evening to Monday morning.

After safely returning their 'babies', the boys wrote down their thoughts about the experience, here are a few of their responses:

"It was very hard and I wouldn't do it again."

"Never again, it was very hard."

"It was very hard, I wouldn't do it again, but I think I did well."

A school spokesman said: "It is the first time the reality babies have been used with boys in the Vale and the Barry Comprehensive students rose to the challenge and did extremely well.

"There were people who had their doubts if the boys could give the babies the same high level of care and attention that girls have in the past.

"However, the boys were able to show a caring, responsible and paternal side and managed to not only match the care scores achieved by the girls, but some boys even surpassed the best scores achieved by them".

Power staff give boost to hospice

STAFF at RWE Generation UK's Aberthaw power station recently raised £5,255 for the Ty Hafan children's hospice.

First, engineers Richard Lloyd, Andy Jones, Nigel Williams and Steve Preston took part in a fundraising bike ride from Greenwich to the Eiffel Tower, which they completed in under 24 hours.

Then in April, commercial operations manager Mark Picton ran the London Marathon, raising over £2,000 with pound for pound matching from the company.

Aberthaw offered further support by sponsoring the main stage at the hospice's Pirate Fun Day on Saturday, July 4.

Station manager Richard Little said: "Supporting the local community is always high on our list of priorities at Aberthaw power station and throughout RWE Generation UK. Congratulations and thank you, to all involved in the recent activities to support Ty Hafan.

"We will continue to back the charity and their outstanding provision for young families in difficult situations.

Biomass move 'disappointing'

WE would like to express our disappointment and disgust at the councillors who voted for the approval of the planning permission of the biomass incinerator on the docks.

Barry has a proud history as being one of the busiest docks in the country, if not the world, when coal was king - but it has not been in use as a dock for many many years. Not a crane or any coal handling equipment has been left as a nod to the past. Most towns (even small ones) have a museum. Not Barry.

So what do we get in an area undergoing expensive 'regeneration' - a polluting, ugly incinerator.

I believe most of the councillors who voted for this monstrosity do not live in Barry, so it's not their problem.

Thanks a lot - shame on you!
Alan and Glenys Priest, Barry

'Barry will become a ghost town'

I THINK Barry residents should not pay for a car park in any of three car parks - Thompson Street, Wyndham Street and Kendrick Road.

Barry businesses are struggling as it is. It will be much easier to hop on the bus, train or park and ride, to go to Cardiff shops and banks. Shops will close down in Barry town.

So the income the Vale think they will get from charging for car parking, they lose in council tax etc from the shop closing down.

The multi-storey car park in town is a nightmare. I don't know anybody who has not hit the kerbs. It is so tight to drive around, even with a small car.

Most Barry residents go to town to pay bills, eg council tax, in the civic offices, or meet friends for coffee.

Barry town will sadly come a ghost town if this happens.

Mrs Tina Saunders, Barry

Local family's link with Suvla Bay Gallipoli disaster

YOUR recent report on Gallipoli veteran, Private John James Thomas, prompts me to write that my father, Thomas Henry Berry, also fought at the Suvla Bay Landings, with Kitchener's 10th Irish Division.

He left the family home in Griffithstown, near Pontypool, as soon as war was declared in August 1914, and took 'The King's Shilling' at Newport.

He joined the Royal Artillery and was posted to an RA battery in Ireland, part of the 10th Irish Division.

The Division was to be deployed at Gallipoli, and would be reviewed by King George V and Britain's most famous soldier, Lord Kitchener, at Hackwood Park, Basingstoke, Hants, prior to embarkation.

It was a special day for my father. He was given the honour of acting as divisional trumpeter, sounding the appropriate cavalry and other calls as His Majesty (the Queen's grandfather), accompanied by Lord Kitchener, both on horseback, inspected the 8,000 soldiers on parade.

My father, also on horseback, accompanied the Major-General, Commanding Officer of the Division. My father, many years later, told me what a colourful spectacle it was.

Many of the regiments (all part of the British Army then, such as the Dublin Fusiliers, Inniskilling Fusiliers and Connaught Rangers, have long since disappeared).

The Division very soon set sail for the Dardanelles and was in action at Suvla Bay. His experiences at Gallipoli are written in his diaries.

There is also a splendid photograph of him on horseback prior to Gallipoli, taken the The Curragh barracks in Ireland.

It was Winston Churchill who pressed the Government to proceed with the Dardanelles campaign, the object being for the Army to advance north through the peninsula and take Constantinople.

It proved to be a failure, and Churchill's reputation was only restored when he became Prime Minister during the Second World War.

It fell to Lord Kitchener to visit Gallipoli, then report back to the Government that the campaign was doomed to fail and that the Army, as well as ANZAC forces, should be immediately evacuated.

The withdrawal was brilliantly executed, without casualty, over several nights, without the Turkish trenches being aware.

My father was one of the last to be evacuated. Being so weak with dysentery, he had to be hauled on board the waiting vessel in a fisherman's net to receive immediate medical treatment from Australian Army doctors.

However, his war was not over. He went on to serve in the Mesopotamia (Iraq) campaign until the Armistice in 1918 when the Turkish army was finally defeated.

It spelt the end of the Ottoman Empire and revenge for the Gallipoli disaster.

Charles Byrd exhibits rarely-seen paintings

THERE will be an exhibition of the work of artist Charles Byrd in the Travellers Gallery, Barry, from Monday, August 10 to Saturday, September 18.

The 98-year-old makes a welcome return to Barry: From the age of 10, he attended Romilly Road Elementary School and became a member of the famous Romilly Boys Choir.

He lived in Barry for about four years before moving to Cardiff.

Charles Byrd is well-known for his depiction of the streets, parks and backyards of his beloved Canton and for his portrayal of Cardiff docklands in the late 50s and early 60s.

This was recognised when the Welsh National Eisteddfod visited Cardiff in 2008.

The special exhibition at 'Y Lle Celf', the Art Pavilion exhibited a number of his kinetic sculptures, his famous 'Magical Machines!"

Charles Byrd.

One of these kinetic sculptures can be seen at the Central Library in King's Square and another two are now housed at Ysgol Bro Morgannwg.

During the 1960s, the artist also produced over 100 abstract paintings.

Now approaching his 99th year, he still works tirelessly on his ever-increasing number of small sculptures while also revisiting some of these earlier works.

This exhibition is a selection of these rarely seen paintings.

Charles Byrd's 'Jewelled Surfaces' exhibition is at Travellers Gallery, Broad Street, Barry from August 10-September 18. Travellers Gallery is run by VoGA (Vale of Glamorgan Artists) in partnership with MIND in the Vale.

LINE DANCING LADIES FROM CADOXTON WI!

JULY was another busy month for Cadoxton WI. On July 8, members attended a garden party at Margam Park to celebrate the WI centenary.

Although the weather was not warm enough to sit outside and picnic, the members enjoyed the happy atmosphere.

It was fascinating watching the fashions, food and other party accessories. Candelabra, champagne and hats were the order of the day.

The meeting on July 20 was a lot of fun when Ruth entertained us with line dancing routines. Dancers and spectators alike said it was "terrific".

An invite from Wenvoe WI for a centenary tea was also a delightful afternoon.

Meetings are held every third Monday at 7pm at Victoria Park Community Centre. Visitors are welcome. Contact 01446 404891.

Barry Island becomes a rock venue as local bands bring live music to weekend crowds

PUT together the words 'beach' and 'rock' and you inevitably think of something red, crunchy and bad for your teeth.

Last weekend (August 1-2) at Barry Island Beach, it was a different sort of rock altogether, as many local band took to a stage at the Eastern Promenade shelter to play for crowds relaxing on the sand.

Included in the line-up were local bands Whisky Lies, Strip Light and Underdogs.

That's the wonder of Atlantic College – 400 people from around the globe attend reunion!

ABOVE: UWC Atlantic College held a very special reunion for those who were at the college 10, 20, 30, 40 and 50 years ago. It ran from Friday, July 24 to Sunday July 26. In total, 400 former students and staff were able to attend the special three days.

PLAYGROUP'S TRIP GOES TO PLAN B!

ON July 17, after watching the weather forecast all week that predicted fantastic sunshine, Philly Bears' playgroup, at Barry 5th Sea Scout hall in Everard Street, planned their third annual trip to Barry Island beach, a spokeswoman reported.

Unfortunately, the weather was not the sunshine predicted – it was raining and gloomy! It was decided to go with plan B. Instead of setting up the gazebo and all the blankets and toys, the group opted for a walk along the beach!

At Barry Dock rail station, they caught the 9.15am train and had the carriage to themselves. The children were excited, even though they were only going two stops!

Group photos were taken under the western promenade; by this time, the rain had stopped and the sun was trying to come out.

As this term's topic has been about the beach and pirates and princesses, they went on a treasure hunt for shells, stones, sticks and seaweed.

After more beach fun and a picnic, the happy group returned home by train.

Centurions' revenge!

SULLY Centurions hosted Barry Athletic with the 10-wicket defeat earlier in the season still fresh in the memory.

However, this time, a new look Centurions side ran out winners by 116 runs. Batting first, new boys Ted Alsop (16) and Calum Thomas (22) were both victims of Daffyd Frost. Santosh Singh added 34 and Gareth Thomas hit 42 at more than a run a ball, including a 67-run partnership with skipper Lloyd Bruce (who made 37).

After a couple of cheap wickets, Owain Sullivan (24 not out) and new signing Chirag Barak (29) added 48 for the ninth wicket, as Centurions were bowled out for 257 in the 44th over. Billy Usswald's excellent 5 for 52 was the stand out bowling performance for Barry.

When Barry batted, both openers were back in the pavilion with only 13 runs on the board, with a wicket each going to Santosh Singh and Gareth Thomas.

Then David Goodway (top scorer with 45) and Andrew Buckland (23) added 68 for the third wicket, before a collapse that saw the score going from 81 for 3 to 100 for 7 in the space of four overs.

Frost showed some resistance with a battling 23 not out, but the Barry innings finally came to an end in the 28th over, with the score on 141 all out.

The wickets were shared out, with Ted Alsop (3 for 17) being the top bowler, followed by Gareth Thomas (2 for 50) and Prashant Choudhary (2 for 30).

IN the reverse fixture, the Second XI lost heavily at Barry Island, with Barry Seconds winning by seven wickets to consolidate their top of the table status.

Only Ben Callow (18) Aaron Emyr (with an excellent 41) and Luke Burnett (10) made it into double figures. Chandren, Baker and Ferriday all picked up three wickets as Centurions were bowled out for just 86.

In spite of Bharat bagging the early scalp of Dawson for 15 and bowling Chandran for 21 (with Iwan Thomas chipping in with the wicket of Steve Oram), it only took 26 overs for Barry to complete the victory. MF

Athletic slip into relegation dogfight after derby defeat

ON Saturday, Barry Athletic 1st XI travelled the short distance for the local derby against Sully.

Sully won the toss and batted first; the first wicket fell on 35 when C Thomas was caught by Jones off Frost for 22.

On 45 the same bowler got rid of Allsop, caught by Gee at third man for 16, and the third wicket fell on 81 when Taylor-Moore had Singh Caught by Murphy for 6.

At 100 it was four down as Ellis had Shokeen bowled for 34; a partnership of 67 ensued between G. Thomas and Bruce before Bruce was bowled by Usswald for 37.

The sixth wicket to go was G Thomas for 42, also bowled Usswald with the score on 177; on 185 Chandrey was caught Smith bowled Usswald for 7, Davies then fell with the score on 190, caught by Goodway also off the bowling of Usswald for 4.

The ninth wicket fell with the score 238 when Balack was caught Taylor-Moore, a fifth wicket for the ever-reliable Billy Usswald, and the final wicket fell with the score on 257 when Buckland stumped Mcinnon off the bowling of Goodway for 5, Usswald ending with 5 for 52.

In reply, Barry got off to the worst possible start when they lost both Smith and Jones on 13 for 1 and 5 respectively.

There was then a partnership of 68 between Buckland and Goodway who were well up with the run rate before Buckland was caught behind with the score on 81 and this just opened the floodgates as seven wickets fell for 60 runs as one batsman after another came and went.

The first of these was Murphy, bowled for 11, then Ellis run out for 0, Griffith bowled for 0, Goodway for a fine 45 (the highest score of the match), Taylor-Moore for 2, Usswald for 0 and last man out was captain Gee for nine, who went down fighting.

Dafydd Frost was left with a fine mature knock of 23 not out off 23 balls and Sully had won by 116 runs; Barry are now deep in a relegation dogfight, with just five games left to rescue their season in what is their 125th anniversary year.

At the Island, Barry's Second XI eased to an easy win when they entertained Sully Centurions Second XI, who won the toss, batted first and were bowled out for 86 with only A Emyr with 41 really showing and resistance.

Young Kieran Ferriday (3 for 18), Chandran (3 for 29) and Ashley Baker (3 for 22) were the best bowlers, while young Adam Sylvestar had impressive bowling figures of six overs, four maidens and six runs for no wickets.

In reply, Barry reached their target with the loss of only three wickets with Chandran (21), Steve Oram (20) and Craig Brock (18 not out) getting the main runs as Barry's 2nd XI keep up their title charge.

This week Barry Athletic First XI entertain Ponthir at the Island with a 12.30pm start and the Second XI travel to the same opponents, also a 12.30pm start.

On Tuesday's Barry Athletic will be running junior training at the Athletic Ground, Barry Island, from 6pm to 7.30pm.

A LOSS AND A WIN FOR LLANTWIT MAJOR LADIES

WITH the outdoor season drawing to a close, Llantwit Major ladies had another mixed week.

On Tuesday, on their home green, they lost on all rinks against Kenfig Hill and Pyle in the Cowbridge Shield - L.Oasley, D.Hurley, J.Molloy and E.Nicholls 11-22; E.Crouch, M.Gomma, C.Willmot and M.Horgan 15-22; K.Johnes, J.Phipps, E.Gray and M.Davies 13-15. May's team, holding the lead until the 14th end, were unfortunate to drop a six and although recovering were unable to make it up in time.

Eryl and Margaret's teams were level until the 10th end but Kenfig played well in the second half, scoring a couple of threes and

On Thursday with the sun shining, Llantwit welcomed Cadoxton to their green for the penultimate game in the league.

With Llantwit holding second position in the league, the ladies played their best ever game, winning on all rinks - M.Gomma, E.Nicholls, M.Horgan and C.Willmot 15-9; E.Hardie, N.Baelz, H.Nixon and E.Gray 29-10; K.Johnes, P.Pike, V.Ball and J.Molloy 33-8.

Carol's team had quite a fight of it but by keeping Cadoxton scoring only ones, they held on. Etta and Julie's teams sailed through their games, the scores never in doubt - well done ladies.

Richard in championship chess action

THIS year it is the turn of England to host the British Championships and the venue is the University of Warwick.

There are a number of competitions taking place over a period of two weeks. I could not identify any current Barry Chess Club players taking part although one of our past members, Richard Hanscombe, has taken part in the first week's morning and afternoon competitions.

Richard has a current rating of 1757 which I believe is lower than when he left the Barry Club. This meant he was ranked to finish 23rd out of 27 entries in the morning competition and 28th out of 43 entrants in the afternoon competition.

In the morning competition, Richard was drawn to play fellow Welsh-registered player, Alex Bullen on the Monday. However it wasn't until the third day, Wednesday that Richard was able to register his first point in a win over Roy Lawrence.

On Friday, in the final game of the competition, he also registered a win, this time against Dominic Clinger. Both Lawrence and Dominic were rated over 100 points above Richard so these were two very good results. With a score of 2/5 Richard finished in joint 18th place; the winner was Philip Crocker, rated 2216, who finished on 4/5.

In the afternoon competition Richard started with a win on Monday over Paul Evans (rated 1957). He had to wait until Thursday to record his second victory over William Golding.

However, Friday was a better day as he recorded his second victory of the day when he defeated Adrian Matthews, rated 1883.

This gave Richard a score of 3/5 to finish equal ninth. There was a four way tie for the title, shared between Tim Kett and Alex Freeland, both East Glamorgan players, together with the English players Sam Walker and Joseph Dalton. Sam had defeated Richard in round two so it was a case of 'if only'.

The Barry Chess Club meets at 7.30 pm each Monday at the West End Club, St. Nicholas Road, Barry CF62 6QY. The club is open to players of all standards; whether you are interested in playing competitive chess or just the occasional friendly games.

New players are very welcome to just turn up on the night but if you contact one of the club members through the website we can explain what is happening on the night you have in mind, and arrange for someone to greet you on your arrival.

For more details visit our website at barrychessclub.yolasite.com.

PHIL JONES

It's youth that wins the day for Cowbridge CC!

IT had to happen sometime.

After scoring 851 runs in 14 innings the prolific Cowbridge captain, Neil Brand, failed to get double figures with the bat last Saturday, putting the onus firmly on the rest of the lads to perform.

The Cowbridge faithful need not have worried, they did and achieved a crushing 81-run victory over Pontyberem.

The win kept Cowbridge in the second promotion spot, 20 points behind Bronwydd, 16 ahead of Drefach which realistically translates as a win behind and a win ahead with four rounds to go.

The match started with Neil Brand hitting two sumptuous boundaries before clubbing one to mid on. Normality was restored by Tom Merilant and Chris Willey, two of Cowbridge's stalwarts, who took the score up to 32 before Willey was caught at slip for 16.

Some free-flowing stokeplay from Mike Lloyd (29) helped the total up to 83 but the Cowbridge innings faltered as Merilant (36) became the fifth to fall at 112.

A couple of quick wickets at this point would have put real pressure on Cowbridge. Indeed the home team would have started their innings thinking in terms of a total of well in excess of two hundred. However the game now seemed to depend on the what happened next.

That Cowbridge got to 184-8 was due to the excellent batting of Alex Kurobasa, 23 off 30 balls and especially teenager Rian Thomas whose 39 off 49 balls, took the game away from the visitors.

It was gratifying to watch these two home-grown young cricketers take responsibility at a difficult time and succeed. Although only scoring six, another young cricketer, Matt Keating,

JRB

TWO of St Andrew's Major Golf Club's up and coming talents took the top prizes recently when the club staged the junior club championships on a week-end which saw the best and worst of the weather.

The number of entries was down from a year ago but those who have joined the club since then have raised the standard even higher than it was previously.

One of those juniors, 13-year-old Ceri Vaughn Jones, who is also a member at Radyr GC, produced some marvellous golf in the first round which saw him post a 62 (net) which gave him a three shot advantage over his nearest rival, left-handed Callum Thomas.

Playing off a handicap of 14, Callum came in with a round of 79. Due to appalling conditions, the second round had to be abandoned faced 29 deliveries and kept an end secure.

The star though was undoubtedly Thomas whose mixture of quality shots and brutal clubbing delighted his teammates and the spectators.

The Pontyberem openers could not have been best pleased to see that it was Thomas who was straight back into the action after tea opening the bowling.

Their attitude was a correct one as their Anwar was caught at the wicket off the young all-rounder. Things got appreciably worse for Pontyberem as their second wicket was lost, a run out through a splendid piece of fielding by Joe Russell.

All of a sudden, 185 to win seemed a long way off. With the experienced Matt Smart tying up an end with his accurate seam bowling, Pontyberem found scoring difficult.

Nevertheless the visitors made steady if slow progress to 51-3 before Brand and Merilant claimed a wicket each to reduce Pontyberem to 55-5.

It was now a case of bowling out the visitors to gain a rich haul of points and once Sam Russell came on it didn't take long.

The youngest member of the team, Sam picked up 4-13 off six overs to put Cowbridge on the verge of victory. There was to be little resistance by the last pair as that man Rian Thomas was recalled to the attack and his bowling of the No 11 was the signal for the celebrations to start. It was a game well won by the Cowbridge team but in particular their youngsters.

This Saturday takes the first XI to Briton Ferry Town while Llanelli visit the Athletic Ground to play the second XI. Sunday sees the 175th anniversary fixture against Bridgend for the 1840 Cup, combining with the annual President's Lunch.

JRB

Welsh steeplechase rivals BY BRIAN LEE

THE Vale's David Neale Doughty is today's subject from Brian Lee's out-of-print book Welsh Steeplechase Jockeys (Cwmnedd Press, 1993).

David Neale Doughty, who hails from Kenfig Hill near Bridgend, is a graduate of the Llangeinor Hunt Pony Club. He often competed against his friend Paul Hamer, a former Welsh champion point-to-point rider, in local gymkhanas.

Although Neale never rode in point-to-points, he had set his sights on a horse racing career at an early age. At the age of ten he would go knocking the doors of the houses in his village asking if he could ride the owners' ponies.

After a while, his father bought him his own pony which he shared with two sisters, and from then on a career with horses was never in doubt, even though a doctor told him he would probably be too big to become a professional jockey.

Born on October 20, 1957, Neale quit his academic studies at the age of 17 to join Welsh trainer Fulke Walwyn at Lambourn. Then, after a period of time with Will Crawford and Bill Marshall, he was spotted by Cumbrian trainer Gordon Richards (no relation to Sir Gordon Richards) who wanted him as a successor to his stable jockey Ron Barry.

And it was riding for Gordon Richards that he won the 1984 Grand National on Hallo Dandy on whom he had finished fourth in the previous year's race. Neale kept the 10-year-old Hallo Dandy on the outside of the course and clear of trouble throughout the race. A big jump at Becher's on the second circuit gained him a lot of ground and he landed in sixth place.

By the time Valentine's had been jumped, Hallo Dandy and the favourite Greasepaint were well clear of the 21 other horses who were to finish the race. The largest number of finishers on record.

Another good jump at the penultimate fence gave Hallo Dandy the lead and he jumped the final obstacle two lengths clear of Greasepaint who, despite renewing his challenge, had to settle for the runner-up's spot for the second year running.

Neale, who rode his first winner at Perth in 1977, has ridden the following big race winners.

Bobby Renton Memorial Novices Chase (Must Be Magic 1985); Mackeson Gold Cup (Pountenes 1983); AF Budge Gold Cup (Clever Folly 1989); Freebooter's Novices Chase (Noddy's Ryde 1983 and Must Be Magic 1985); Cartcart Challenge Trophy (Lord Greystoke 1981); Ritz National Hunt Handicap Chase (Current Gold 1981); Parrier Jouet Novices Chase (Noddy's Ryde 1984).

John Cook, who is said to be Barry-born and who won the 1971 Grand National on Specify will be featured next time.

PARKING CHARGES 'RETROGRADE STEP'

I WAS utterly dismayed to learn of the Vale Council's decision to introduce car parking charges of up to £5 in parts of Barry and Cowbridge.

The plan is an extremely dangerous move by the Labour-run council and could decimate our struggling high streets, which are already heavily challenged by out-of-town retail parks with ample free parking.

In my eyes, this is a retrograde step and while it might deliver a short-term revenue increase for the council, the loss in the medium to long term through loss of business on the high streets could be huge.

The Welsh Conservatives have set out our plans to revitalise our high streets, as they should be the bustling heart of a community rather than feature vacant shop fronts. The plans can be read online by visiting our website's policy section.

By regenerating our local high streets, we can take a significant step forward in nurturing growth in our economy, creating jobs and making Wales a more prosperous nation.

Decisions such as this will set our high streets back years.

PORT ROAD BUS STOP: a resolution at last!

AS one of the local ward councillors for Cadoc, I have been working for over 18 months with the Vale Council highways department and Cardiff Bus officers to try and get Cardiff Bus to use the lay-by and bus stop by Golwg Y Coed on Port Road in Barry.

At the request of local residents, I have been trying to get Cardiff Bus to stop at the newly-built bus stop near the Crematorium and not at the old one further down the road, which is extremely difficult to access and use.

I have to confess that it has proved extremely difficult to find a solution that has been acceptable to Cardiff Bus, despite other bus operators being prepared to use the new bus stop.

We have offered several solutions and have had several site visits with our highway engineers to look at suitable solutions, but up until now none were acceptable to Cardiff Bus.

Memorial to seafarers

I RECENTLY put out an appeal to improve the Barry Seafarers' Memorial but feel it is only right to point out the good work being carried out at this site by the 11th Barry Sea Scouts, in conjunction with the local Merchant Navy Association.

It has been pointed out to me by their leader, Bryan Foley, that his group have been painting and tidying up the site to make it more presentable. This is fantastic news and I feel

After a great deal of time and effort by everyone involved, I am very pleased to confirm that we have now found a mutually acceptable and workable solution, and we have reached an agreement with Cardiff Bus to accept our latest suggestion.

As a result, work will be able to commence on alterations to the bus stop and finalise this issue, which hopefully should be completed by the early autumn.

I am pleased at the outcome of this very

'Let's not forget the hedgehogs'

WOULD I be the only one hoping that the Vale Council was pursuing a new conservation policy regarding the non cutting of the grass verges on the Cowbridge by-pass and other areas in the Vale – other than for saving money?

I'm disappointed to see this was not the case with grass cutting scheduled this week for the by-pass.

We should be they should be commended on their efforts to improve this important site.

Working with these groups, I am still looking for donors or sponsors to improve this memorial site, to provide a permanent flag pole, planters, benches and perhaps a cover.

After all, as we are a seaside town, we owe it to these people who gave their lives at sea.

Coun Richard Bertin, Barry
(Independent, Vale of Glamorgan Council)

long running complaint and to be able to share the good news – particularly with those of you who have been waiting to use this facility since the estate was built.

Finally, I would like to thank all the officials at Cardiff Bus and the officers at the Vale Council for the work involved in getting to this sensible solution.

I look forward to the bus stop being used in due course.

Coun Anne Moore, Cadoc Ward, Barry encouraging and helping sustain wildlife in our hedgerows and the uncut grass verges are an ideal area for all kinds of animals to live in and travel from one location to another.

It is a natural habitat for hedgehogs, which according to a report by the British Trust for Ornithology (BTO) commissioned by PTES and the British Hedgehog Preservation Society (BHPS) to determine the state of Britain's hedgehogs, indicates that at a conservative estimate a quarter of the population has been lost in the last 10 years.

The evidence is very strong that hedgehogs are in trouble and hedgehogs were declared a priority conservation species in 2007.

Perhaps, if the verges have to be cut, only a narrow strip near the kerbs could be cut everywhere in the Vale, leaving a larger uncut area up to the hedges.

I may be wrong, of course, but do other readers think that this could be a win-win policy for the council and our wildlife?

Mister Boiler says 'Keep GAS SAFE!'

FIRSTLY, thank you to everyone who has used Mister Boiler over the past months – your custom has been greatly appreciated.

Gas Safe Week will soon be upon us and a safety campaign will be run in the media highlighting the importance of keeping GAS SAFE.

Over the past couple of years, I keep encountering the same issues as I visit properties – and they usually arise from a lack of maintenance of the appliance.

Keeping your appliances maintained will keep them operating at their most efficient, which will save you money. A service will also highlight any potential problems that can be resolved before they become a major issue; prevention is better than the cure.

We can help you to put your best foot forward

VALE Podiatry & Chiropody of Cowbridge and Llantwit Major are there to help you with all your foot problems.

This month has been particularly busy helping people with the painful problem of ingrowing toenails.

Using a simple procedure under local anaesthetic we can permanently solve this condition. There are horror stories regarding treatment of this condition, which often prevent people from seeking help.

We at Vale Podiatry will take care of any of your concerns before, during and after the procedure. We have excellent feedback from our patients who have had the treatment.

As the summer is flying past, don't forget that if you are a student, now is a good time to sort this out before you head off to university.

If at any time you wish to discuss the treatment, please make an appointment and we can answer fully any queries you may have.

Ingrowing toenail is only one of the nail conditions we can help you with.

If you have a problem with your nails, share it with us... we can help!

World titles for Cadoxton school

THE weekend of July 24-26 saw the Cadoxton Schools of Tae Kwon Do combine forces with several other martial art styles to form a combined Welsh Squad to compete in the World Organization of Martial Arts Athletes (W.O.M.A.A.) World XV Games held at the Wales National Indoor Athletic Centre Cardiff.

The Welsh squad included 18 members from the Cadoxton School of Tae Kwon Do headed by Master Ron Thomas.

The countries that attended were America, Canada, Mexico, Germany, Ireland, England, Scotland, Jersey, Isle of Man, Sweden, Portugal, Spain, and Bangladesh and of course Wales, all representing their countries with pride and good sportsmanship.

The games ran smoothly over the three days and brought forth many new WOMAA world champions. The night time finals on Sunday night were something to see; everyone who attended the finals had a great time and witnessed some great competition from some of the world's class competitors.

The Cadoxton School of Tae Kwon Do came away successfully with a total 54 medals.

After the opening ceremony the weapon, traditional and synchronised pattern categories began with the Cadoxton school being represented in all sections.

Results were as follows: traditional patterns - gold, Peter O'Callaghan; silver Cody Jacobsen, Maddison Allen, Lucia Cunningham, Matthew Bennett, Keita Enfield and Martin James; bronze Joel Wells, Anita Sheppard, Jessica Blackley, Thea Cunningham and Leland Butler.

Weapons sections - gold Matthew Bennett in both the traditional and bladed, Anita Sheppard and Lucia Cunningham; silver, Cody Jacobsen, Cian Allen and Ethan Andrus; bronze, Charlie Rogers, Thea Cunningham, Joel Wells and Jessica Blackley.

The second day saw the start of the point sparring categories: gold Cody Jacobsen, Charlie Rogers, Lucia Cunningham, Thea Cunningham, Anita Sheppard, Cameron Evans and Keita Enfield; silver, Maddison Allen and Joel Wells; bronze Jake Quigley, Matthew Bennett, Jessica Blackley, Mason Blackley and Leland Butler.

The third and final day was the longest with all the continuous sparring, and team events along with the grand champion events taking place.

Results were as follows: continuous sparring - Lucia Cunningham gold in her own category; Lucia also fought up a category and took the gold. Also Joel Wells, Cameron Evans and Jessica Blackley took gold.

Silver medals were awarded to Cian Allen, Charlie Rogers, Thea Cunningham and Jake Quigley; bronze Cody Jacobsen, Mason Blackley and Leland Butler.

Jessica Blackley and Lucia Cunningham won gold in the girl's team point sparring. Joel Wells won gold in both the boys team point and continuous sparring while Cameron Evans earned a silver in the boy's team point sparring.

The event and day ended with the ladies open weight point sparring grand championship where we had Keita Enfield competing.

Throughout the day Keita had competed to reach the grand champion final, where she dominated the two, two-minute rounds to be crowned the W.O.M.A.A. world grand champion.

Club instructor and coach, Master Ron Thomas, was inducted into the hall of fame as the international instructor of the year.

The club's overwhelming and continuing success is due to the dedication and hard work of its members, supporters, coaches and instructors, whose hard work throughout the year paid off.

For further information phone (01446) 406372 or see www.cadoxtontaekwondo.weebly.com.

Lions hold presentation day

PARK Lions held a belated presentation day on Saturday.

They were unable to be at the club's presentation day due to half the team representing their school in a football tournament in Sweden.

The boys have had a great season and are looking forward to 2015/16 as under-14s. The club would like to thank Tim, Cory, Craig for their hard work and dedication and the players and parents for all their continued support.

We are currently looking to strengthen our under-9s and under-11s so are looking for players going into school year 4 and 6.

If you are interested and like to find out more please contact Kim on 07772 955635.

Chris Miller, men's winner, with Claire Jones and Jodi Winter.

Men's away winner Harrison Jones.

Ladies' winner Andrea Page.

ON Saturday, July 25, the annual Colin Jones Memorial golf tournament was held in memory of Colin Jones.

Colin was a popular and respected past member of Brynhill Golf Club and a well known and respected local solicitor in Barry.

There were 115 people who entered the competition to play and pay their respects to Colin and his family, the number of players reflecting just how popular he was.

Every player was invited to toast Colin at Bilbo's Bridge, between the sixth green and seventh tee. Considering the weather on the previous Friday, the sun shone for Colin's event.

Before announcing the winners, the captain, Rhys Jones, gave a toast to absent friends. The captain thanked Iain Grant (course manager) for the way he presented the course, which was in excellent condition.

Thanks also went to Matthew Owen, the professional, ladies' captain Glynis Gould and to the bar and catering staff. Jodi Winter and Claire Jones (Colin's daughter) presented the prizes.

Results: men's home winner: Chris Mills - 45 points; men's away winner: Harrison Jones (son of Colin) - 37 points (Harrison received a standing ovation from everyone present); ladies' winner: Andrea Page - 41 points.

Afterwards the members and guests enjoyed their evening in the clubhouse with the entertainment by Mike Briscoe's No Static disco.

JK

Close contest in farmers' July golf competition

THE July meeting of the Glamorgan Farmers' Golf Society was held at the well-maintained Grove Golf Club near Porthcawl, sponsored by the Maesglas Veterinary Group of Bridgend.

This annual pairs competition is usually keenly contested and this year was no exception. When all the competitors had returned to the clubhouse, just one point separated the top three teams.

Leading the field with 36 points and with a superior back nine was Glyn Watts-Jones partnered with Jim Hayes, just seeing off the challenge of Neil McLean and Mike King, who also scored 36.

In third place with 35 points was captain Brian Jones partnered with Gareth Perkins.

In the section for guests, a better back nine for Kevin Hopkins and John Lane, son-in-law of David Williams, enabled them to finish with 38 points, just ahead of John Thomas and Robert Lloyd.

Nearest the pin on the Llanerch Vineyard and Restaurant-sponsored par three holes were Tim Jarvis, John Thomas and John Lane, while 24-handicapper Chris Watson hit the longest drive on the selected hole to win the Bear Hotel, Cowbridge, sponsored prize.

Mike King correctly guessed 46 balls would fail to make the journey back to the clubhouse to win the Premier Turf Ltd sponsored bottle of whisky.

Finally, congratulations to both Aubrey Thomas and David Williams, who have both recently celebrated landmark 80th and 70th birthdays. Members eagerly await details of the celebratory functions!

The society's next meeting is scheduled for Thursday, August 27 at Creigiau Golf Club when members will be competing for the Anthony Brown Cup, kindly sponsored by Llantwit Major Estate agents Anthony Brown & Co Ltd.

THE CAVALIERS EDGE CIMLA TO BOUNCE BACK

LLANTWIT MAJOR Cavaliers' first XI bounced back from last week's loss at Morriston with a memorable one-wicket win away at Cimla.

Captain Snelson won the toss and elected to bowl first, hoping that the Cavs bowlers could put the opposition under early pressure, as they have done so many times this season.

Snelson's decision was quickly vindicated, with Cimla reduced to 42-3 inside 14 overs. Griffiths (15-1-62-1) and Ashton (9-4-17-2), making his final appearance for the Cavs before his move to Cornwall, were unlucky not to pick up more wickets with the new-ball, as several edges fell just short of the slips.

With rain falling, but not heavily enough to stop play, Sam Pickford was given the ball and picked up three quick wickets to leave Cimla in serious trouble at 80-6 from 22 overs.

S Hornby (46) then put on 40 quick runs with M Corish (14) as Jenkins (6-1-28-0) bowled inconsistently with a wet ball. This partnership saw Cimla recover to 120-6. Snelson then decided to bring Griffiths back into the attack to restore some control.

As Griffiths caused the batsmen trouble from one end, and found the edge of the bat several times, Pickford continued his spell of excellent bowling. Pickford picked up the remaining four wickets, as the Cimla tail wagged, to finish with exceptional figures of 12-2-39-7.

S Jones (20*), in particular, deserves credit for helping Cimla reach their total of 161. The Cavs realised they had let their earlier position of dominance slip and that they should have held their opposition under 125 runs.

After the best tea of the season, Griffiths and Collins opened the batting for the Cavs.

Collins (18) and Griffiths (31) saw the Cavs stroll to 40-0 off the first 10 overs. When Collins was caught behind off the bowling of S Hornby (15-2-44-3) just before a rain interval, the Cavs' run-rate dropped thanks to an accurate spell of bowling by A Phelps (15-4-23-1).

After the rain delay, W Thomas (13-3-35-4) picked up the important wickets of Griffiths, Pritchard (14) and Pickford in quick succession, as the Cavs tumbled to 69-4.

Captain Snelson (28) and Stu Davies (14) restored some control for the Cavs, before Davies was bowled with the score on 99. The Cavs then quickly lost another three wickets, including the prized wicket of the captain, to leave the Cavs teetering on the edge, at 117-8.

As the Cimla players celebrated as though they had won the game, Adrian Ashton determinedly strode to the crease. Along with Aaron Hughes (15), Ashton dug-in as the pair kept the scoreboard ticking over.

Both Hughes and Ashton ran hard between the wickets, a necessity on a pitch with a slow outfield. As Ashton and Hughes got the Cavs closer and closer to the 162 runs required for victory, their teammates on the sidelines began celebrating every run and shouting encouragement after every ball.

When Hughes was dismissed with the score on 150-9, the Cavs were still an agonising 12 runs short of victory. Ashton was joined by Buckley and continued to punish any wayward bowling. Each run saw the Cavs inch closer to victory, while the blood pressure of the Cavs' players rose.

With the Cavs requiring two runs from the final four overs and, with only one wicket remaining, Buckley (1*) faced I Hornby. The first ball of the over struck his heel and the two batsmen sprinted through for 2 leg byes to seal a truly memorable victory for the Cavs.

Cimla deserve credit for an excellent, hard-fought game of cricket and could so easily have been the ones celebrating a miraculous victory.

The Cavs can attribute this victory to the fight, determination and skill displayed by Hughes and Ashton. Their innings sealed an imperative win, which has seen the Cavs reclaim top spot in the league with four games remaining.

It was fitting that Ashton guided the Cavs to victory in his final game for the club. Over the past several years he has not only been an exceptional player on the pitch, but an outstanding personality off it and he will be missed by one and all around the club.

The Cavs are at home to Llandeilo this Saturday in the first of four must-win matches. The Cavs will be missing crucial players, including Jimbo Thomas, Adrian Ashton and Harry Withers for the rest of the season, and it will be up to other players to step forward and fill the big shoes left behind.

The Cavs would like to thank their sponsors: Anthony Brown Estate Agents, Chiroprapist Roz Couzens, Cooperative Travel, Jaipur, Llantwit Major Autocentre, Oxford Lawns and Gardens, Simons Plaipe, Sinclair Direct and Wave Design to Print for their much appreciated sponsorship of the club.

Midweek loss for Llantwit bowlers

ON July 30, Llantwit struggled once again with the midweek triples league at Wyndham.

After a bad start Richie Gray's triple of Andy Vincent and Mike Jones were 0-5 down and came back to level at 7-7. They only scored one shot on the final nine ends to lose 8-25.

Roy Vowles, Ambrose Horgan and Eric Sparks fought hard all the way, only to lose by eight shots, 9-17; many thanks to Eric for stepping in when we were short.

Graham Snowdon's rink with Dave Howell and John O'Brien seemingly were out played by the Wyndham three, eventually going down 6-33.

For the third week running John Nixon's triple were the star performers, well done Geoff Tims, Cen Williams and John, ending up 15-15. Final score: Llantwit 38, Wyndham 90.

Saturday, August 1, however, turned out a better day for Llantwit, having their first win in two weeks with a trip to Murch.

We welcomed back Eric Hacker after a long lay off and he skipped his rink of Paul Brown, Ambrose Horgan and Les Fowler. With his usual patience and encouragement, he played as if he had never been away.

They ended up with a big win, 37-11, only to be upstaged by the fine performance of Cen Williams, John O'Brien, Graham Snowdon and skipped by Keith Alexander, who complimented the other three with his usual solid performance to be top rink, winning 36-6.

Ken Williams also skipped his rink to a fine win 23-7, Andy Vincent giving the rink a good start as usual with Mike Harmon now showing his true form after only having three games after his long lay off.

Graham Merchant, back after a spell in the first side, did all that was expected of him and Ken picked up the pieces where necessary.

Richie Gray's four of Roy Vowles, Mike Jones and John Ball found the Murch green not so much to their liking and went down by 20 shots, 14-34, but the result was a

PG10 teams are in action

PG10 recently participated in the prestigious 31st Welsh International Super Cup in Cardiff hosted by Team Tours Direct.

The prestigious junior event has seen top professional footballers such as Steven Gerrard, Michael Owen, Robbie Fowler, Tomas Rosicky, Andrei Shevchenko, Owen Hargreaves and Shay Given grace the tournament.

PG10 had over 11 teams participating in the tournament aged between under-6 to under-12, which saw them play over 80 fixtures against sides from across the UK and the world, from countries such as USA and Africa.

The PG10 teams played in non-competitive festivals, scoring over 293 goals and shining throughout and catching the attention of a number of professional football scouts.

The under-12s played in a competitive tournament and celebrated a successful week by winning a dramatic penalty shootout, 11-10, to finish third.

To get involved with PG10 please email petegriff10@hotmail.co.uk or visit www.pg10coaching.co.uk.

Countdown to season's start for Cowbridge

WITH just over four weeks to go for the start of the season, Cowbridge RFC coaches Leigh Davies and Dan Williams have upped the intensity at training.

The first game of the season is on Saturday, September 5 at home against Tonyrefail. The coaches have been pleased at the attendance and commitment of a mixture of seniors and youth that augurs well for the campaign.

As always we could do with extra players and at the senior level it would be great to run two teams on a regular basis. Training is on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 7pm at the Athletic Field and new players will be given a great welcome.

The first XV finished last season on a high note with fine victories over Old Illydians and St. Albans and captain Huw Lougher will be looking to continue that form at the start of the new season.

Unfortunately we are losing physio Heather Jarvis this season. Heather has done fantastic job for the club over several years and will be sorely missed by all - we wish her all the best for the future.

We therefore need a new physio and if anyone reading this is interested please contact club secretary Alun Griffiths or the clubhouse; the numbers can be found on the club website

The club sent a sevens team to Tondy last Saturday and performed well against some top class opponents.

Unfortunately club stalwart Rhod Walker suffered a nasty injury and we wish him a speedy recovery.

Following the first game against Tonyrefail the next four games are as follows - September 12, Tylorstown away; September 19, Caerau Ely home; October 3 Glyncoch away; October 10 Cefn Coed home.

Finally the club will be showing the Wales v Ireland game on Saturday kick off 2.30pm; come down and start the season early.

Barry gymnasts in a national competition

THE rhythmic team mate Saffie under-12: Jasmine Dancey, judges Tayla gymnastics Welsh Monteiro following Weston (1st), Ashleigh Gerrish and Abbie national championships, which closely behind with Marsh (3rd). Novice L3 Williams, volunteer Gina recently took place at beautiful performances on the day.

Barry YMCA rhythmic squad have five gymnasts who gained places on the Future Hopes programme: Kiara Llewellyn, Saffie Monteiro, Seren Powell, Olivia Deans-Hunt and Elle Eyao. Future Hopes is a programme identifying promising young talent for development for future Commonwealth Games. As well as being identified for this programme, Kiara has also recently retained her place in the Welsh national rhythmic gymnastic development squad.

To add to her achievements, Kiara also competed in the British national development plan finals at Fenton Manor in May, a major achievement for someone so young and new to the sport. A name to look out for in the future we think!

Results: Novice L1 under-10: Olivia Deans-Hunt (1st), Seren Powell (2nd), Evelyn Smith (3rd), Imogen Payne, Jessica Doogue, Eloise Hayes-Knight, Nyah Perry, Erin Goddard, Elan Jones and Fejya Hillberg. Novice L1

A fantastic day was had by all gymnasts with an amazing total of 15 medals being brought back to the club along with four Welsh champions - Chloe Johns-Thwaite who retained her senior L3 title for the second year running; Freya Evans junior L3 champion, Jasmine Weston under-12 L1 champion and Olivia Deans-Hunt under-10 L1 champion. In addition, Chloe Johns-Thwaite was awarded the Iris Parry Cup for the highest scores of the day.

In the Future Hopes section of the competition, Kiara Llewellyn gained second place overall, with Barry under-12: Jasmine Dancey, judges Tayla Weston (1st), Ashleigh Gerrish and Abbie Marsh (3rd). Novice L3 Williams, volunteer Gina under-12: Emily Doogue (2nd), Seren Williams (3rd), Ruby Cook, Maisie Lewis. Novice L3 junior - Freya Evans (1st); novice L3 senior - Chloe Johns-Thwaite (1st). Future Hopes - Kiara Llewellyn (2nd), Saffie Monteiro.

Well done to all the girls who took part, as this was the first ever experience of a competition for some. All performed beautifully executed routines.

Thank you also to coaches Karen Johns, Ffion Byrne and Lesley Barry.

Golfer lands hole-in-one

A Dinas Powys golfer will have no excuse for missing his next tee-time after winning a limited-edition BOSS watch for achieving a hole-in-one.

Lewis Davies, 38, scored his ace on the 127-yard, par-three 18th at Dinas Powys GC, and the nine-handicapper was rewarded with membership of the exclusive BOSS Watches H1Club and a specially-commissioned, commemorative timepiece.

The scheme is open to any golfer whose club uses HowDidiDo - a free-to-use, web-based social network for golfers - and anybody playing in official club competitions is eligible. Currently, more than 1,800 clubs use the website.

In addition to the limited-edition watch, Davies joins more than 7,000 members in the BOSS Watches H1Club which offers access to exclusive benefits and merchandise.

Brynhill ladies play away!

THE golf course at Cradoc was played by the Brynhill ladies for their 'away day' this year.

We were fortunate with the weather, a sunny day with little wind and panoramic views of the Brecon Beacons over the 18 holes. Dinner was followed by presentation to the winners - first team Linda Gershenshen, Sue Bouds and Liz Fine; second team Miggs Codd, Andrea Page and Carol Bumford; nearest the pin - Jane Phillips; longest drive - Linda Hewlett.

The journey home was accompanied by the usual singing and laughter.

COMPETITION RESULTS

July 14, John Lowden Cup, Foundation Brooch and G.U.W. - winner Glynis Gould, net 73, runner-up Liz Taylor, net 75; July 21, vice captain's day - silver winner Sam Pascoe, 38 pts; bronze winner Miggs Codd 40 pts.

After presentation vice captain Liz Fine arranged a game of bingo, another first for the lady golfers; July 28, Bob Hope Cup - silver winner Gemma Evans, 35 pts; Holland and Tattersall cup - winner Gemma Evans, 35pts, runner-up Linda Hewlett, 32 pts.

Barry RFC celebrates a fine season with awards ceremony at the Memorial Hall

BARRY Rugby Club held its annual awards evening at the Barry Memorial Hall to bring to a close a season which saw the first XV gain promotion to the second division of the Swalec Leagues.

All other sections of the club also had successful seasons and with a lot to celebrate some 250 players, coaches and guests gathered to enjoy a fine meal provided by David Pereira, followed by the aptly-named band Slipped Disc, who kept the dance floor filled until the early hours.

In between it was the time to present awards for each team, with lots of difficult decisions having to be made.

Recipients of club badges, awarded for completing 50 games for the club, were Joe Gallivan and Luke O'Sullivan.

In the ladies' section, player of the year was Louise Shanihan, who also shared the player's player award with Lucy Cahill. Anna O'Neill received the most improved award with Lynsey Phillips being made clubwoman of the year.

The final award for the ladies was the 'spirit of the Bombettes' which this year went to Jessica Dix.

In the youth section, player of the year was Lloyd James with most improved going to Teifion Osborne.

The second and third XV awards were presented to Rhidian Mephram and Liam Ring as players of the year with Lloyd Dutton and Leighton Jones winning the most improved player category.

For the first XV, the player of the year was presented to Alun Evans with Brad White earning the most improved award; the club player of the year was made to Gareth Hall.

Other awards were as follows: Bethan Howell award went to Tom Perry, the chairman's award was presented to Ioan Evans, with the final award of clubman of the year received by first team captain, Martin Tanner. Congratulations go to all winners.

With the main awards complete it was time to make presentations of club caps, an award which recognises an achievement of having played 300 games for the first XV.

The cap, which has only been presented six times in the history of the club, was this year awarded to Dave Provis and Martin Tanner, and was presented to them by Andrew Prosser and Rhidian Scott, two previous recipients of this prestigious award.

Cadoxton pipped in a top of the table encounter

TWO of the top teams clashed at Victoria Park when Cadoxton hosted this match against Llantrisant which could possibly decide the league winners.

The match lived up to the expectations and with neither side giving much away the scores stayed close throughout the game. Cadoxton were slightly in front for most of the game and by the sixth end the advantage was 10 shots with all four rinks in front.

This difference stayed about the same until the 13th with three rinks up and the advantage still 10. Unfortunately, four bad ends left them trailing by three shots, with two rinks up and two down. After the 18th end the scores were level, and Cadoxton took a four shot lead on the next.

On the penultimate end the scores were level once more. The now vital last end brought two wins for each side but leading Roy Harding, leading by two, attempted to trail the jack for four shots turned an opposing bowl in to give them two shots and tie the rink.

Howard Craven, leading by four on his rink, conceded a two. John Jones' rink reduced a three shot deficit with a single. This left the last rink on, skipped by Don Kuhnell, to make three to tie the rink and the game.

Both skips had a bowl left with, with an open head and the closest bowl a yard or more away from the jack. The visiting skip drew the shot with his final bowl. The third Gordon Davies called for it to be taken out as Cadoxton probably were holding three second shots.

Both teams were eagerly awaiting the outcome and a loud cheer came from the Cadoxton team as the bowl was removed but unluckily it hit into the Cadoxton bowls and only one shot was credited to Cadoxton. This was only the second time during the game that Cadoxton were behind.

Scores: H Hellyar, I Robertson, G Davies, D Kuhnell 21 - 23; P Swannick, D Evans, K Chedgoy, R Harding 18 - 18; S Clarke, P Ellis, D Brook, J Jones 15 - 17; G Solomon, L Adams, D Jeffries, H Craven 16 - 14. Final score: 70 - 72.

CADOXTON 'A' V SPOOTT PHOENIX - CML7

Following selection the Cadoxton 'A' side had a full team and a reserve, but unfortunately by the time match day came around, this luxury was depleted once again.

The 14 stalwarts, however, turned up to travel to Sploot, with smiling faces ready to enjoy the afternoon come what may. Unfortunately the enthusiasm did not bring good results.

One rink skipped by Ian Heppenstall, and supported by Stan Clements, Ray Morris and captain Dennis Hammond, were level on the penultimate end but a single took away the glory.

Scores: J Stacey, R Cole, L Davies 13 - 18; E Heppenstall, R Byrne, D Fanning 7 - 31; S Clements, R Morris, D Hammond, I Heppenstall 16 - 17; G Powell, J

Smart, A Prince, A Carpenter 7 - 38. Final score: 43 - 104.

CADOXTON V LLANTWIT MAJOR-MUNRO CUP

A weak Cadoxton side hosted this Munro Cup match against Llantwit Major and were heavily defeated.

The scores were tied at 5-5 on the rink skipped by John Jones against Graham Jones, after eight ends. However the next four ends decided the result in the visitor's favour, when 10 shots were conceded.

Paul Swannick playing in the unaccustomed role as skip against Eric Sparkes was also tied at 7-7 at the halfway stage. The chance of success for the home side disappeared with two '5's conceded in the closing stages.

Howard Craven met opposing skip Steve Booker and after an early '5' against could not get back into contention when a further '5' and three '3's settled the result.

Ivor Robertson was the skip of the final rink against Neville Young and never got into the game with just four winning ends.

Scores: J Stacey, A Prince, G Davies, I Robertson 9-31 J Crane, L Fry, A Wood, N Young; S Clements, D Fanning, D Hammond, P Swannick 14 - 22 J Ball, M Harman, K Alexander, E Sparkes; E Heppenstall, R Byrne, D Jeffries, J Jones 11-17 F Pike, G Marchant, P

Twoomey, G Jones; G Powell, I Heppenstall, G Solomon, H Craven 12 - 26 L Fowler, D Jones, S Booker. Final score: 46 - 96. DK

Richard honoured with award

RICHARD BELBY, chairman of the Island Marine, has been awarded the community coach of the year at the recent 2015 FAW Welsh Community Football Awards.

The club currently has two senior, one youth, three junior and 10 mini sides with ages from 5-18. Richard has been involved in coaching many of the players within the sides and dedicates many hours to developing players within the club.

An Island Marine spokesman said: "Everyone involved with the Marine is delighted that Richard has won this award. Without him this club would not be as successful as it is at present."

"He spends a lot of time looking after issues within the club as well as coaching the children during the week. He is an extremely good coach and the players love the sessions he puts on as he always makes the children feel like Premier League superstars."

Island Marine is very proud of Richard and his dedication and hard work highlights how far the club has expanded over the years.

The club is currently trying to recruit players for their under-12 (Year 7) and under-13 (Year 8) sides - don't miss out as you could have the chance to be coached by the community coach of the year!

Richard was presented with his award at the club's recent picnic held at Porthkerry Park, in which all mini and junior sides were in attendance. NO

COWBRIDGE BOWLING CLUB NEWS

THERE were three home games for our ladies last week with some fine performances and good results.

On Monday, July 27, in the two rink Evening League against St Fagans, Cowbridge were unfortunate to lose overall by just one shot. Rink scores: Diane Purnell, Sylvia Hole, Phyllis Price and Lynda Wilson (skip) 11-17; Sian Lewis, Diane Lloyd, Kay Edwards and Dorothy Pritchard (skip) 15-10. Match score: Cowbridge 26, St Fagans 27.

On Wednesday, July 30, Cowbridge entertained Pencoed in the Cowbridge Shield competition.

A fine performance by Kay Edwards' quartet secured an overall win for the home team. Rink scores: Diane Purnell, Diane Lloyd, Jan Lewis and Kay Edwards (skip) 28-5; Janet Morton, Dorothy Pritchard, Shirley Wilkinson and Joy Woolford (skip) 17-20; Sandra Collin, Caryll Davies, Phyllis Price and Pat Holdsworth (skip) 12-14. Match score: Cowbridge 57, Pencoed 39.

Their third game saw the Windsor Club from Penarth visiting.

This was a league match in which Cowbridge took maximum points winning well on all three rinks.

Rink scores: Dorothy Pritchard, Diane Lloyd, Kay Edwards and Joan Bradley (skip) 24-10; Lynda Wilson, Jan Lewis, Pat Holdsworth and Helena Snelling (skip) 26-15; Dianne Purnell, Phyllis Price, Joy Woolford and Shirley Wilkinson (skip) 35-8. Match score: Cowbridge 85, Windsor 33.

The men played two games last week - both away.

The first was a Munro Cup game played at Murch, Dinas Powis, and the second a Saturday league game at Treharris.

Both games were played on grass greens, notoriously heavy, and finding weight of shot would not be easy.

In the Munro Cup game Cowbridge lost overall by six shots, won on two rinks and lost on the other two, gaining four points out of the possible 14.

Rink scores: Ron Frayling, John Collin, Rob Lewis and Norman Wilkinson (skip) 17-16; Terry Dunsdown, Ron Woolford, Brian Kent and Bob Penn (skip) 10-22; Brian Hole, Len Taylor, Guy Morton and Clive Pritchard (skip) 20-14; Gerry Lloyd, Mick Davey, Brian Williams and Colin Wilson (skip) 14-15. Match score: Cowbridge 61, Murch 67.

In the league game Treharris were two players short and Cowbridge were looking to take maximum points from another team at the bottom of the table.

However, again Cowbridge lost overall, this time by just five shots. At one time Cowbridge was on course for a win but faded on the last few ends on two of the rinks and could only muster four points from the 14 available.

Rink scores: Ron Frayling, Colin Wilson, John Trott and Brian Williams (skip) 17-20; John Jones, Rob Lewis, Guy Morton and Norman Wilkinson (skip) 19-18; Terry Dunsdown, Bryan Hole, Michael Bradley and Roger Barwick (skip) 20-26; Mansel Davey, Len Taylor, Clive Pritchard and Bob Penn (skip) 17-14. Match score: Cowbridge 73, Treharris 78.

Cowbridge will need a win from their next home game this Saturday - the visitors are Llantwit Major.

MILLWOOD BOWLING CLUB ROUND-UP

MILLWOOD suffered another Munro Cup defeat, this time at the hands of Barry Romilly by a 22 shot margin, going down 82-60.

Barry Romilly won on three of the four rinks available, Millwood's one winning rink avoiding a complete whitewash. We haven't done as well as we started off in this season's cup run, winning six but sadly losing seven with only two more to play.

After the first four ends had been played, the scores were tied at 10-10. In the next five ends, Romilly put their foot on the gas and led Millwood by 21 shots, 20-41.

Millwood then started to pull back some of the deficit by only trailing after the 13th end by eight shots at 44-53. Could Millwood pull off an unlikely win in the last quarter of the game?

Sadly the answer was that Romilly put the pressure on again and took an unassailable 22 shot winning margin to finish at 60-82.

Looking at the rink scores, the closest either side got to the other was a seven shot difference. Well done Romilly and Millwood for playing the game in the true spirit of bowls, and enjoying each other's company and hospitality - maybe next year a different result?

Millwood travelled to Rumney hoping for a win to keep their chances of promotion alive, even though, as Division 4 leaders, they are four points ahead of Gelligaig; Gelligaig did not play so a win was really needed.

Millwood did the business and came away with a 12 points to 2 win against Rumney, 94-68.

As the game started, so the rain came, but as it was only a short shower or two, it didn't affect the running of the green too much. After the first five ends had been played, Millwood were in the lead at 17 shots to 11.

At the break after the 10th end, Millwood had a 15 shot lead over Rumney at 46-31. When the 15th end had been played the lead that Millwood had was increased to 21 shots on 65-44.

Millwood even increased the lead even further over the last six ends, and finished the game with the 94-68 winning margin, to seal the 12 points needed to consolidate their position on top.

The win was due to rinks 1 and 2 winning by 18 shots and 16 shots respectively, while rink 4 lost by 12 shots, due to the 'home' skip pulling off some really good bowling to keep the home score more respectable.

Well done Millwood for a really needed good win. We have a bye before our next game, away to Thomastown on August 15, so if Gelligaig win their games in hand, the end of the season should be quite interesting!

We know that we have the ability to do what is necessary, so let's do it!

A 92-57 defeat was certainly not the result that Millwood 'A' side wanted at this stage of the season, not picking up a single point against Ynysybwll 'A'.

The plan started to come adrift after the first five ends when Ynysybwll went 10 shots ahead and led at 9-19.

Even trying to cut down the deficit came to no avail, for at the 10th end the lead had increased to 25-40.

In the third quarter of the game, Millwood went even further adrift to trail by 41-66 to the visitors.

When the final end had been played, Ynysybwll had made a clean sweep and won by a hefty 35 shots, 57-92.

The visitors had a massive winning rink in rink 3, winning by 17 shots (half their winning margin!).

This defeat has certainly put a big dent in Millwood 'A' promotion plans, but we are sure that the lads have the resilience to overcome this defeat and do their best for the rest of the season's games.

Next on the list is away to Llantwit Major, second in the division!

Captain's prize weekend at Brynhill Golf Club

THE captain's prize weekend is a prestigious competition in the Brynhill golfing calendar.

This year the captain Rhys Jones prayed to the golfing gods for good weather and they answered his prayers! 122 golfers entered the competition on the Saturday and 131 players on Sunday.

All teed off hoping of that one special competition win especially with the fantastic prizes on display. A tent was put near the 10th tee for light refreshments and for the players to donate some money to the captain's charity.

Woe betide any golfer who didn't dig into their pockets deeply enough as many of the golfer's wives were there overseeing the proceedings. The ladies' captain Glynis Gould and some of the ladies' golf section manned the scoreboard over the two days.

On both days the players congregated afterwards on the patio, discussing their games, good and bad.

The presentation was held in the clubhouse on Sunday evening, where captain Rhys Jones thanked Iain Grant and his staff for the way they presented the course, the caterer Mark Donnmett, bar manageress Kath Foran and her staff, the ladies in the refreshment tent, the ladies' captain Glynis Gould and the ladies section for their help and support, the handicap secretary Derek Coombes who works hard behind the scenes making sure everything is correct for the presentation, Matthew Owen the club professional and last but not least Rhys' vice captain Matthew Thomas for all his help and support. Last but not least he thanked the members.

The captain congratulated Keith Atkinson, the club's president and his wife on their 57th wedding anniversary. The president thanked the captain for putting on such a great weekend and was delighted that the members had wholeheartedly supported the weekend.

The results are as follows: Saturday - Best nett Chris Phillips, 67; best gross Dave Slee 74 (37 back 9). Sunday - Best nett Mike Knight 67; best gross Jamie Griffiths 78. Saturday and Sunday - Overall best nett Phil Browne 144; overall best nett Scott Warne 154.

The overall winners both won a Garmin GPS watch and other prizes included golf wear from the Brynhill professional shop.

Evie sets gold standard at championships!

OVER the weekend of July 18-19, nearly 400 Nippers from across Wales took part in the Welsh Surf Lifesaving championships held this year at Whitmore Bay, Barry Island.

With Rhose Lifeguards hosting the competition this year their team of Nippers competed in a number of beach and sea races including boards, sea swims, sprints, flags and many more.

Mixed weather was predicted but fortunately the rain held off for the weekend and everyone enjoyed a sunny but breezy couple of days.

With the competition located around the recently regenerated Eastern promenade end of the bay, the Nippers, their families and supporters and the many officials on the day enjoyed a great day on the beach either competing or spectating.

All of the Rhose Nippers once again put in some great performances with individual Welsh champion gold medals going to Xantia Hobrough, Gwenno Goode and Evie Watkins.

Special congratulations to Evie Wong who won gold in all of her races, collecting a very impressive six medals in her individual events.

Individual event medal winners were: Evie Wong – gold surf swim,

Another win for Central

NO local rivalry last Saturday as Bary Central were entertaining Rumney.

Having been on a winning run for a few weeks the Central team were looking forward to yet another challenge to keep their slim chances of promotion alive.

B Castle's rink found the opposition in top form and from their excellent start the Central side found themselves 10 shots to one shot down after seven ends with both teams finding it difficult to work out the rink, comments being made by both teams.

Brian's rink fought back and after 13 ends only found themselves a shot down, 12 shots to 11. However, an eight shot tally by the Rumney team in three ends put paid to Central's chances with the Rumney side taking two points by winning 25 shots to 14 shots.

The two points that Rumney achieved were the only points won during the afternoon as the remainder of the Central rinks won to take 12 points.

The rink of T Hudd, whose side had been unchanged for several weeks, and had also won their last five games together, got off to an excellent start by 16 shots to 2 after 11 ends, with all of Ted's rink playing very well.

This continued throughout the rest of the game with Central winning comfortably by 29 shots to 9.

T Goddard, who had lost the previous week, gave his team a pep talk before the game started and it proved worthwhile as a tremendous struggle ensued with both sides taking an advantage when they could.

On the 16th end Rumney picked up a 5 to lead by five shots; however, with the skip's pep talk still in their minds the Central side picked up six shots to have an excellent victory by 21 shots to 20. Well done Dave and his rink for a great result.

Skipper D.Goddard was looking for another win against strong opposition and this he achieved fairly comfortably. Dave's side found themselves in the lead after 10 ends by 12 shots to 5. With Dave picking up a four on the 15th end the home team won by 24 shots to 12.

The overall result was another win by the Central team by 88 shots to 66, giving Central 12 valuable points to Rumney's 2.

COUNTING DOWN TO THE 2015 RUGBY WORLD CUP

The Dragon starts to sharpen its talons

AFTER THE BLOOD, SWEAT AND TEARS... The first moment of truth is near for Wales

"I have nothing to offer but blood, toil, tears and sweat... We have before us an ordeal of the most grievous kind... months of struggle and suffering... You ask what is our aim? I can answer in one word... It is VICTORY!"

THE famous words, of course, are Winston Churchill's – addressed to the House of Commons on taking over as wartime Prime Minister on May 13, 1940 – but they have found a sporting resonance in the fearsome training regime imposed by Wales' head coach Warren Gatland on his squad of 47 young hopefuls for the Rugby World Cup over the summer months.

"Horrendous"... "Brutal"... "Savage"... "Manic"... "The hardest thing I've ever had to do"...

These were just some of the wry comments wrung from players who admitted they have been tested almost to breaking point, both physically and psychologically, on the rarified heights of Switzerland and energy-sapping, searing heat of Qatar – as well as more

BACK PAGE COMMENT

by Don John

THOUGHTFUL...

Head coach Warren Gatland and match skipper, Scott Williams, face the press at Tuesday's unveiling of the experimental Wales line-up for Saturday's 'friendly' RWC warm-up with Ireland.

familiar icy torments back home in their Vale Resort boot camp!

"It's all about taking players out of their comfort zone, trying to do things a bit different, and pushing them right to the limit", says the no-frills ex-All Black hooker – a view endorsed by his equally blunt-spoken lieutenant, Shaun Edwards, a formidable rugby league warrior in his own right.

Both men are cut from the same unashamed winner's cloth in a shared driven need for success, with world rugby's 'holy grail' the immediate focus of their ambition; hence the unprecedented pain inflicted on the players as the tournament draws near.

The extra motivation is understandable given the Welsh camp's continuing bitterness over the controversial red card dismissal of skipper Sam Warburton for an illegal, though unintentional tackle, in the 2011 RWC semi-final in New Zealand, which many observers had felt merited just 10 minutes in the 'sin bin'.

Not only did it result in a one-point (9-8) loss for Wales against a misfiring France, but undoubtedly cost Wales a deserved place in the World Cup final, where the acknowledged form team in the championship would have been strongly fancied against strangely-stuttering All Blacks, who in the end could only scrape to the title with an edgy one-point (8-7) win over the French.

Four years on, the painful memories still burn deep, but are being used as a positive in the Welsh camp, with Edwards admitting: "We're all still a little bitter from the last one. A controversial refereeing decision took our dream away from us, but I'm thankful to have another chance."

Gatland recalls: "We had a very young team in 2011. We went there with huge confidence in our preparation and it was gut-wrenching to lose in the semi-final... We came away from there feeling very unfulfilled... But we went on to win a Grand Slam" (in 2012) "and some of the players also won a Lions' test series" (against Australia in 2013).

Both players and coaches are adamant that the intense physical and mental preparation for RWC 2015 has been "a step up from 2011", with tough drill sergeant Edwards insisting: "The good thing is that with the players having been through all this, if there's an injury, we know others will be ready – and at the level of fitness we require."

Fitness, though, cannot be the end of the story, with other leading nations also giving it the same high priority, as Edwards is quick to point out: "Conditioning is one thing – but we're actually a rugby team. The best team will win the Rugby World Cup – not just the fittest".

Soon the 47 players who have been put through the mill will need to be cut to 36-38 and subsequently pruned down to the 31-strong RWC squad that will go into battle for Wales when the tournament finally kicks off on September 11.

It is not a task that Gatland is relishing: "When you've seen players put as much in as some of these individuals have, it's the hardest thing to do. I find it very hard" (to tell them they have not made the cut).

That onerous task began this week with the selection of the team to face Ireland at Cardiff's Millennium Stadium on Saturday, in the first of three so-called 'friendly' fixtures, in the run-up to the tournament proper next month.

With little concrete to report, the ever-fixed Welsh sporting media has excitedly seized on any morsel of 'news' emanating from the Welsh camp, and has amused itself for weeks by endlessly speculating on which players were likely to be in or out of the final mix.

Inevitably, the new-look team including four new caps announced on Tuesday, will be scrutinised for clues as to the Kiwi's thinking, though it is doubtful if anything substantial can be construed from the experimental shake-up at this early stage of the campaign.

While a win is always the primary objective in any sport, on this occasion the outcome is likely to be rather less important than what can be gleaned from individual performances.

In this context, therefore, it will be a useful early marker of Wales' strength in depth and is a genuine opportunity for less established 'fringe' players to remind the coaches of what they too can offer at this level.

Among others, it will be particularly interesting to see if restored half-backs, James Hook and Mike Phillips, can seize this rare chance to impress and clinch a World Cup spot.

WALES TEAM TO FACE IRELAND

Hallam Amos (Newport Gwent Dragons); Alex Cuthbert (Cardiff Blues), Tyler Morgan (Newport Gwent Dragons), Scott Williams (Scarlets, captain), Eli Walker (Ospreys); James Hook (Gloucester Rugby), Mike Phillips (Racing Metro); Nicky Smith (Ospreys), Richard Hibbard (Gloucester), Aaron Jarvis (Ospreys), Jake Ball (Scarlets), Dominic Day (Bath Rugby), Ross Moriarty (Gloucester Rugby), Justin Tipuric (Ospreys, vice-captain), Dan Baker (Ospreys).

REPLACEMENTS:

Rob Evans (Scarlets), Kristian Dacey (Cardiff Blues), Scott Andrews (Cardiff Blues), James King (Ospreys), Taulupe Faletau (Newport Gwent Dragons), Lloyd Williams (Cardiff Blues), Gareth Anscombe (Cardiff Blues), Matthew Morgan (Bristol Rugby). (Kick-off 2.30pm, Millennium Stadium, Cardiff, Saturday, August 8)
